

The 1914
REFLECTOR

VOLUME
VIII

THE REFLECTOR

The Year Book of the GALESBURG
HIGH SCHOOL

---

Volume VIII

---

GALESBURG, ILLINOIS
1914

TO
CORA F. STONE
WHOSE WARM SYMPATHY AND INTEREST
IN ALL OUR SCHOOL ACTIVITIES
HAS GIVEN HER A PLACE
IN THE HEARTS OF EVERY STUDENT OF THE GALESBURG HIGH SCHOOL, THIS
THE EIGHTH VOLUME OF
THE REFLECTOR, IS DEDICATED

CORA F. STONE

The Board of Education

Dr. Wm. O'R. Bradley ..... Ex-officio President
 W. L. Boutelle ..... Ex-officio Clerk
 Herbert Bloomquist ..... Ex-officio Treasurer
 W. I. Steele ..... Superintendent of Schools

Directors

Gustave Wenzelmann ..... First Ward
 Mrs. G. W. Thompson ..... Second Ward
 L. F. Wertman ..... Third Ward
 R. O. Ahlenius ..... Fourth Ward
 Mrs. Nev. C. Lescher ..... Fifth Ward
 Fred A. Dean ..... Sixth Ward
 J. J. Berry ..... Seventh Ward

Standing Committees

TEACHERS

Mrs. Thompson, Mr. Ahlenius, Mr. Dean

BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS

Mr. Berry, Mr. Wenzelmann, Mr. Deau

TEXT BOOKS, RULES AND REGULATIONS

Mrs. Lescher, Mr. Ahlenius, Mr. Berry

P R E F A C E

HEREWITH we present to you the eighth volume of THE REFLECTOR. In a measure we have tried to reflect the various events and activities of the past year; if in doing this, there is also reflected something of the spirit of unity and progress that prevails in G. H. S., then our utmost aim has been accomplished.

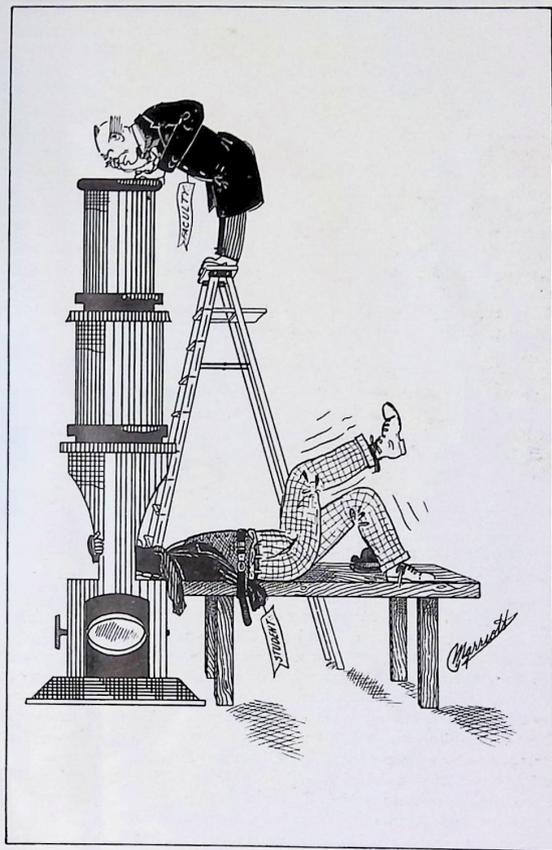

THE NINETEEN FOURTEEN REFLECTOR

Eight

THE NINETEEN FOURTEEN REFLECTOR

FACULTY

Nine

The Faculty

NO student who attends Galesburg High School has any excuse for not securing exactly the kind of a high school education which he desires, if he but take advantage of one of the various courses which are offered, and which are directed by an excellent staff of well-trained teachers.

At the head of the corps of teachers is one who is invaluable because of the direction and advice he gives to every student who enters the high school. This is Principal Willis. Not only do the students know that they may freely call upon Mr. Willis for counsel in choosing a course of study, or deciding important matters, but that he will always lend an ear to a request for some much-desired half-holiday. It is his kindly heart, revealing itself through his genial smile, which wins his students, and makes them feel at home in Galesburg High School.

English and History, the broadest departments in the school, are under the direction of Miss Stone. Assisted by a number of teachers, Miss Stone aims to reveal the innumerable facts of the past. Miss Stone not only requires her pupils to delve into the recesses of forgotten ages, but by requiring them each day to come prepared to give a current event, enables them to keep abreast the times. The stories of the glorious deeds of our English ancestors and the patriotism of our Illinois forefathers are daily related in Miss Ray's classes. Miss Ray has adopted a unique method of student discipline, by which the students "take turns" at being "school-marm," and directing the class-room recitations.

Every student in high school must take more or less English, whether he choose a Latin, Scientific, or Business course. Miss Way, Mr. Irish and Miss Smiley, teach the more advanced classes. In addition to her regular class room duties, Miss Way is always faithful in her pains-taking efforts to aid the staffs in making a success of the "Budget" and REFLECTOR. Mr. Irish, whose pet "bobby" is debating, teaches Business English. Before reaching the more advanced English, the student passes through the hands of the English Composition teachers, Miss Lapham and Miss Campbell, whose class rooms their pupils are as loath to leave as they are glad to enter.

Able instruction is given those who desire Latin by Miss Smiley, whose knowledge of her subject enables her to prepare her students for College Latin. In this department also are Miss Nelson and Miss Stephens, who introduce Latin to the fertile minds of the Freshmen and Sophomores and endeavor to make this introduction welcome. It may be said that their efforts are crowned with success.

German, naturally an interesting subject, is made more interesting to our students by having soch eine schöne kleine Lehrer as Miss Golliday. Each day she has something different for her classes, stories, pictures, songs, and so weiter.

The Science department offers a complete course. Mr. Roberts has charge of the Chemistry and Physics section, and in his classes he teaches how water runs up hill, how freezing is a warming process, what makes the barometer girl's blue dress turn pink as a signal that an outdoor picnic is out of order, and many other things equally as interesting. Mr. Adams and Miss McGowan are authority on weeds, flowers, bugs and birds, and convey this wealth of knowledge to their pupils in a most interesting manner. Mr. Sperry, along with his other school duties, lends valuable assistance as a Physiology teacher. Mrs. Rhodes, head of the Domestic Science department, has gained a reputation of being an excellent cook, as all who have partaken of her delicacies will testify. The savory odors which arise when Miss White has charge of the kitchen are sufficiently delicious to tempt even a busy passerby to enter. Miss Dawson's specialty is sewing, and so well does she teach, that more than one dressmaker's bill has been saved, for the girls can now make their own Commencement outfits.

Ten

Mr. Hart, Mr. Glazebrook, Miss Eitelgoerge, and Mr. Robinson are all busy launching the students on the sea of Mathematics, but it takes Mr. Callihan to pilot them over the breakers of Advanced Algebra and Solid Geometry. Mr. Callihan uses the honor system to some extent in his tests, and it has proved highly successful, as the students feel the responsibility of holding the honor.

Opportunity is not only offered for choosing a Latin or Scientific course, but an excellent business course is offered. Each of its parts is essential to the whole. The speedy short-hand taught by Miss Collins, Miss Page's accurate typewriting, the careful Bookkeeping taught by Mr. Dewhirst, and Mr. Irish's Business English, fit together perfectly and are as essential to each other as the pieces of a jigsaw puzzle.

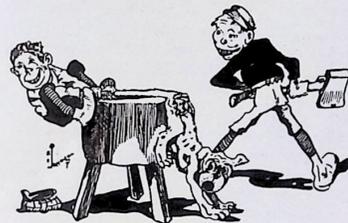

Of especial interest to the boys of the institution is the Manual Training department, where they may make everything from bird-houses to concrete benches. The two Mr. Bridges have charge of this department.

Miss Royer reigns supreme in her art, in Room 8. Under her excellent guidance the department has prospered as never before, which prosperity is largely due to the variety of interesting work which she conjures up for her classes to do.

Miss Hewey and Miss Potter both entered during the Spring term and have been doing good work in Spanish and English.

Then there's Emma Douglas, the busy lady of the office, who gives all information. If someone is seeking for enlightenment as to the "whereabouts" of anyone or anything in school, she can "put them straight."

Our list would not be complete without mention of Miss Preston, our former teacher of English, who early in the year gave up her pedagogical duties to marry Mr. Wiley Stephens, of Aurora.

"We'll cut the tail as short as possible."
(take)

Eleven

FACULTY

THIRD FLOOR BACK

IN MY BUSY CORNER

NINETY A MINUTE

"FIDA EST"

WHERE THERE'S A WILL THERE'S A WAY

GOOD MORNING!

OFF TO THE TOURNAMENT

OFF ON THE 4-50

TEMPTED

MEDDY SUNSHINE

DA DA

MINIMUM WAGE

A Toast

We've toasted the Seniors and Freshies,
We've toasted the Juniors and Sophs,
We've toasted our clubs and our classmates,
Now let's give a toast to the Profs.

O teachers, we'll never forget you,
Your mem'ry shall be with us still.
The thought of the fives that you gave us,
The gum that we lost at your will.

The classes we cut without sorrow,
And the lessons we flunked, are all wrapt
In the beautiful robe of remembrance,
Till we almost forget that we scrapped.

We Seniors are leaving the high school,
And never may see you again,
And the thought of the parting brings to us,
A feeling akin to pain.

Up Seniors, and raise high your glasses,
Up Freshies and Juniors and Sophs,
And drink to the toast that I give you—
Our friends and our comrades—the Profs.

Fourteen

In Memoriam

MR. G. M. HEWEY

THE twenty-third of March marked the passing away of Mr. G. M. Hewey, a member of the High School faculty. Never before in the history of our school had an instructor passed away while school was in session. While it was known that Mr. Hewey was in poor health, the announcement of his death came as a shock to both the student body and the faculty. He had been absent from his classes for a few days preceding his death, but no one suspected that his sickness would prove fatal. Only the exercise of his strong will power enabled him to be at his post of duty, for his illness dated back two or three months. In spite of this, he continued to give his best efforts to the students, and with his usual calmness he went on with his work, carefully concealing all evidences of his suffering.

Mr. Hewey was born in Lavona, New York, and received his grammar and high school education in his native town. After finishing the high school course he entered the University of Michigan, graduating from that institution four years later. He then took a course in instruction, and for several years, taught in Tennessee.

It was during this period that he became interested in the mission field, and a few years later he went to South America under the direction of the Methodist Mission Schools.

For five years he lived in South America, where he proved himself to be of value in the Mission work, and where he became very proficient in Spanish.

Upon his return to the United States, he settled in Illinois and again took up the work of teaching. Previous to his coming to Galesburg, he had filled the position of principal in the Williamsfield High School. He came to Galesburg in the fall of 1910, and began his work in the High School with the advantage of several years of ripened experience, which, with his willingness to work, made him a helpful member of the school.

Mr. Hewey was a man of high ideals and lofty aims. He had an extensive breadth of knowledge and during his four years in our High School he taught Civics, Commercial Geography, Political Economy, Commercial Law, English Grammar and Composition, Arithmetic, Authors, and Spanish.

Though he taught such a variety of subjects, his students can testify that he never came to class without a thorough knowledge of the day's work; even when he was so weak from illness that it took great effort to sit before his classes. The past year, Mr. Hewey had the heaviest schedule and the greatest number of subjects of any member of the faculty. In all his subjects he was a helpful, encouraging and valuable instructor.

But the amount of his work did not impress us as did the spirit with which he worked. His manner was always cheerful—a quiet cheerfulness that indicated his interest and enjoyment in his work. His persistent, painstaking efforts rendered him all the more valuable, for if his duty was to perform a certain task, he did it without fail; first making sure of what was to be accomplished, then very carefully going about his task until he had done his duty and more too. The unostentatious way he had of helping people accomplished as much for the school as the work of any teacher whose work is more apparent in school life, and whose training shows plainly upon the students individually as well as collectively.

We all know that Mr. Hewey was reasonable in his condemnation of our misdemeanors. His patience in dealing with those students who persisted in causing disorder was unlimited. When an injustice to the student was committed by any student, he reasoned with him instead of condemning him in his own mind or before the other students. We know also that meanness and violations of school regulations were deeply felt by him; we know that his feelings were sadly touched, but he remained just and reasonable, rather than being outspoken, angry, and unreasonable in correcting our faults.

As a school, we regret and feel deeply the loss of Mr. Hewey. His cheerfulness, painstaking efforts, interest in his work, and patience won the support and respect of the entire student body. His experience, good judgment, and knowledge won the admiration of the faculty. He will long be remembered as a true friend, a patient instructor, and a loyal supporter of our school.

MRS. CLAIRE GOODSILL CHANDLER

This volume of the REFLECTOR is the first published without the assistance of Mrs. Goodsill Chandler, who for seven years was faculty supervisor of the Galesburg High School Annual. Now that she is no longer with us, the staff wishes to acknowledge her past work with the REFLECTOR, and we take this way of expressing not only our appreciation, but the appreciation of the entire school for her faithful and untiring efforts in our behalf, for which she will always be remembered.

Eighteen

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

ONE warm day in the early spring, as I entered the Terminal in New York City, I noticed a young man with a light overcoat on his arm and a traveling bag in one hand, making his way toward the gates. There was something very familiar about his appearance, but for the moment, I could not recall his name. Suddenly, he called a red-coated boy to carry his bag, and I heard his voice. Immediately I rushed forward to grasp the hand of my old school-mate, Crawford Elder.

You can imagine his surprise and delight at seeing an old friend that he had not heard from for years. Old "Cap," as we used to call him, was holding a position as buyer for a large wholesale house in the East. He had just returned from his western trip and had made a few days' visit in Galesburg.

We found a quiet table at the Waldorf where we could talk over old times.

"Well, it certainly seems good to see you again, Marcus, old boy," "Cap" remarked. "How many years has it been, anyway, since we graduated from old G. H. S?"

"It's been about ten years," I replied thoughtfully.

I was anxious to hear about the old folks back home, and so Crawford gave a detailed account of his visit.

"Well, the old place hasn't changed much. It's just as slow as ever," he said. "Somehow I didn't expect to see any of the old bunch still in town, but the funny thing about it was that I met one right in the depot, Jimmy Webster. You remember him, don't you? He introduced me to his wife, Florence, I think he called her, Jim is certainly a different person from what he used to be when he was going to school. Why, he's the manager of a big concern that's digging a canal from the Mississippi to Galesburg to supply the town with water.

"Say, do you remember Ethel Custer? That little fat girl that used to run around school asking every teacher if she was going to get through this or that subject. Well, do you know, she's at Kenosha sanitarium recovering from a nervous breakdown.

"Let me see if I can't think of something that would particularly interest you. Oh, yes! your old-time friend, Bernice Ream, is married, and to a minister, too."

I kept Crawford busy answering questions between courses.

"And say," he continued, "I happened to be in one of the department stores, the Big Store, I think they call it, its been so long I've forgotten the names and you couldn't guess if you guessed all night who plays the piano in the music department. I'll give you three guesses."

Allister Wiley?

"No!"

Olive Jackson?

"No, you're way off."

I gave it up. Who was it?

"Lloyd Short."

"He certainly is the last person on earth that I would have thought of," I said.

"I met Mr. Willis on the street one day and he shook hands and told me how glad he was to see me. He is superintendent of the Minneapolis schools now. We were talking about our fine class and what had become of its members. He told me about the fine work that Helen Shulls, that girl that used to study so hard, was doing among the Mountain Whites of Tennessee.

"About the funniest thing I saw while I was in town was an advertisement for a subscription dance to be given that night by Frank Clifford, professor of plain and fancy dancing. Imagine Frank Clifford a dancing master."

When our laughter had subsided, old "Cap" got started again.

"When I was coming through Aurora there was a great crowd gathered around the depot. From the rear end of the train I beheld Verna Kimler trying to persuade the crowd that Socialism, and Socialism alone, would save the country. Funny thing that girl a lecturer.

Just then the waiter brought the checks and I paid the bill. Then I noted Crawford through the crowded thoroughfare to the Metropolitan Club, where we spent a very pleasant evening.

H.S.

STARS

PRESIDENT
SENIOR CLASS

GIRLS' DECLAMATORY

ORATORY

GALESBURG-KEWANEE

GALESBURG-MOLINE

1,2,3, PLAY!

D.A.R. WINNERS

WE OF THE NEGATIVE

CHAMPIONS, N.W. DISTRICT

BOYS DECLAMATORY

JUNIORS

N.R. Bowen

Twenty-two

THE NINETEEN FOURTEEN REFLECTOR

THE JUNIOR CLASS

Colors—Light Blue and Gold

OFFICERS

- President.....STUART CAMPBELL
- Secretary.....MILDRED FULLER
- Treasurer.....KARL SHULTZ

IF people could only realize true merit in high school students they would concede the Juniors to be one of the main factors in the High School. Like all former classes, upon entrance to the halls of learning we were tutored in the ways of high school life. However, early seeing the error of our ways, we fell into line, and have kept steadily upon the march until we have reached our present admirable position—that of prospective Seniors.

As is usually the way with any Freshman classes, we did not display very much skill during our first year. The members were accustoming themselves to their surroundings and they did not have much time to outside work.

One of the important clubs of the High School was organized through the efforts of some of the boys of our class during their first year. Some of those interested in work along scientific lines conceived the idea of forming the Science Club. This club has succeeded and is rapidly becoming stronger under the guidance of capable officers. Other boys were admitted to the Lincoln Debating Club and are upholding the honor of the club in a very creditable manner.

Many of the girls were admitted to the Elizabethan and Anaxotos Societies, as their merits were recognized.

The second year saw our awakening. The boys were in athletic and literary events, while the girls took part in the literary activities and had they been allowed to complete in athletics they certainly would have won a place for themselves.

This year has been the most successful in our career. At the beginning of the year the foot ball team was composed almost entirely of Juniors. The Juniors were also represented on the basket ball team. In track athletics the boys have brought honor to themselves and to the class. Not only did we take part in athletics, but also in literary work. Galesburg was represented in the Boy's Declamatory Contest by a Junior, and although he did not take a prize, his work was very creditable. Another Junior won the preliminaries in the Boy's Oratorical Contest. Two members of the interscholastic debating teams were boys from our class. The girls represented us in the debates between the three debating societies, and a number of the class have been put on the honor roll for efficiency in class room work. We have shown our merits as a class, now we will show you the merits of some of our members.

Stuart Campbell, our president, has been connected with many prominent events about school. As a member of the Lincoln Debating Club, he was a member of the inter-club debating team last year. He is editor of the 1914 REFLECTOR, and last year was circulation manager of the "Budget."

Murlin Hoover, a member of the Science Club, has been prominent in athletics. Last year he was on the track team, and this year has been on the foot ball, basket ball, and track teams. This year he was President of the Athletic Association.

Radah Telford and Ruth Brewer were on the inter-club debates this year.

Lowell Sutherland and George Wilson were in the declamatory and oratorical contests.

Paul Shelton and Donald Allensworth were on the inter-scholastic debating teams.

Percy Kinney and Raymond Watson were placed on the honor roll for brilliancy in class room work.

Twenty-three

Twenty-six

SOPHOMORE CLASS

OFFICERS

- President..... JACK HURTY
- Vice President..... ANNA LESCHER
- Secretary..... ALISTER WYLIE
- Treasurer..... GAIL MCKENZIE

"The Sophomore class is noted for its good looks and charming personalities."
Miss L. H. STREIBERS

"Of all the classes, the Sophomore is the most progressive."
MISS LAPHAM

THE HUNTING PARTY

THE Earl of FREEBURG, accompanied by his PAGE, was crossing a MARSH ORA MEYER on the way to his home, a large WHITE HOUSE on the bank of the SHANSON River. He was a HANSEN YOUNG man with a NOBLE countenance and dark BROWN hair and eyes.

On reaching home he had the PORTEK order the COOK to prepare a cup of COFFEY. Before LONG he went into the HALL and gave his GRIPP to JONES, who told him that NELSON wanted to speak to him. The Earl, therefore, went out in search of the forester.

WEST of the house was a WOOD in which a large party was to go hunting the following day. Here was assembled a number of noblemen, Lord OBERG and SUNBERG, Duke of KNUTSON and HUTSON, and the OL-SON of the late Major HARSHIBARGER, LINROTTE NELSON, who told him that they had come to find out what the plans were for the next day. After a long consultation with him, the party left.

The morning of the hunt dawned bright and clear. The people were led by a FOWLER, whose FRISK little dog followed close at his heels. After crossing a FORD they stopped to rest under a LINN tree, and were much astonished by the approach of a MASON, who, WY-LIE rested, told them that he had SKEN a beautiful lake with many SWANS-ON it. He also said that this lake was surrounded by a GRASSLEY MEAD on which bloomed many flowers and if they would ROWE quickly they might LAND on the other side in an hour.

They decided to do this, but discovered that ROGERS, the man who had been PACKEN-HAM and other things for the lunch which the maid, MARRI-OT to have done, had not yet arrived. After waiting a LONG time they started for home, saying that they would have a picnic on the green SWARD. Some did not like this and made BETTS that they would never go again on a hunt with the Earl.

For lunch they had ham and eggs, GRAHAM bread and other things, besides some dainties in BOWLES, which looked very tempting. COFFEY was served hot to those who wanted it, while the WATER-MAN brought water direct from the WELLS to the others.

Lady FREEBERG, the Earl's FOSTER mother, was very delicate, but the PORTER offered to WHEEL-ER out in the shade, although he said HERRI-OT to have it. After lunch, as she cleaned her needle on her EMERY that she might sew, she told stories of how she used to PATT-ER-SON when he got into mischief. She whiled away some time telling about her visit to the Holy Land and the devout PALMER on the JORDAN River.

At about 6:30 some of the party left for a neighboring town where the play, FAUST, was to be given, but most of them remained as the Earl had a stereopticon with which he was to show scenes from the battle of BUNKER HILL. While waiting for him they were shown some photographic views taken by the OSGOOD Supply Company. The pictures proved interesting and all were sorry when the footman announced that the horses were at the gate, but they decided that some time in the near future they would enjoy their hunt on the Earl's estate.

GOOD TIMES

O'NEIL KIDS

A JOYFUL TIME

WHICH IS WHICH

WEENIE ROAST

FULLER TWINS

SHARE!

AFTER THE DEBATE

VACATION

A DISPUTE

T. R. Bowen

Thirty-one

THE NINETEEN FOURTEEN REFLECTOR

THE FIRST YEAR CLASS

OFFICERS

President.....	LAKE CHURCHILL
Vice President.....	LOUISE McDONALD
Secretary.....	BURRISSE MANDOX
Treasurer.....	HAROLD WILKIE

A FRESHMAN'S POINT OF VIEW

WHEN a Freshman first enters High School he feels very awkward and uncomfortable and is surprised at the ease of the upper classmen. In his embarrassment he wanders in the wrong class rooms and often goes the wrong way. The Seniors calmly survey him; the Juniors laugh at him, but the Sophomores ridicule him—and make him the butt of all their stale jokes. The dignity of the Sophomore is amazing; he so soon forgets that he is only one year removed from the Freshman.

The Freshman soon adapts himself to his surroundings; takes things in his own hands and proves himself equal to the occasion.

When I entered high school I found that as a Freshman I had to study Algebra, Latin, Biology and Authors. In search of the Mathematics teacher, I ambled slowly into Room 4, where I found Mr. Hart awaiting me with his reception smile and an air of cheerfulness that made my heart glad, but he proved to be a hard-hearted, driving Algebra teacher bent on taking revenge for all the trouble other classes had caused him.

This was terrible, but worse troubles were awaiting me when I reached Miss Stephens' room, No. 2. She insisted on my trying to cram into my brain one hundred and forty rules of First Year Latin. But my brain resisted all her efforts. She was very patient, however, and I forgave her for the efforts—except those irregular verbs.

When I crossed the bridge to Room 28, the Biology quarters, I found that subject very soothing. We tried to learn all about pully wogs, worms, bugs, and every creature living and dead. But all this was balanced by those joyful trips in the spring to study luds and birds.

Then twice a week we rambled into Room 5. There we read Authors and tried to discover all the metaphors and similes for Miss Lapham. But there was one drawback always—those terrible outline books! There is one comforting thought—for joy of joys! I have no more Freshman studies, for I passed all my examinations!

The first important event of the year for the Freshmen was their class election. The officers, soon after their election, chose the class colors and pin. They showed good taste in the choice of the latter, which is a gold shield with a narrow field in the center.

Early in the year an opportunity was given the class to show their ability along literary and journalistic lines. A committee from the Freshman class was appointed by the "Budget" editors to edit the "Budget" one week. The Freshman number proved very refreshing, to the surprise of the school and the gratification of the class.

The Freshman class also took a great deal of interest in the Reading Contest, which was introduced this year. Fifteen Freshmen entered the preliminary contest with a decidedly agitated air. We are hoping that the contest will be renewed next year.

Little need be said about the class basket ball team, at least to the other class teams. The boys put a lot of pep into their work and the result was remarkable for a first year team.

Thirty-one

ABOUT THE SCHOOL...

FROM THE BRIDGE

EDITOR'S CORNER

MAIN STAIRWAY

RAH! RAH! RAH!

DEAR OLD G.H.S.

NURSED BY DEARNESS

FOND DUITS

WELCOME!

LOVE

FIRE! FIRE!

ATHLETICS

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

OFFICERS

President.....	MURIEL HOOPER
Vice President.....	GONSTAVE McKENZIE
Secretary.....	ALISTER WYLIE
Treasurer.....	PROF. A. W. WELLS
Finance Committee—	MARY PHILLIPS, GAIL McKENZIE, RUTH BREWER, HAROLD ELLISTON AND REUBEN RISBERG

THE Athletic Association of Galesburg High School has now passed its fourth successful year. This Association since its organization, has done more than anything else for the betterment of athletics in the High School. It has not only greatly increased the school spirit in athletics, but has helped to finance the different teams successfully through the seasons. With a membership outnumbering previous years, the Association has been able to close the year with quite a good sum of money on hand, after all expenses have been paid.

The foot ball team has had an unfortunate season, owing partly to the fact that the members, with the exception of two or three, were all new. With a year's experience the team promises better things for the coming year.

The basket ball team had an excellent percentage, but were unfortunately defeated in the game with Evanston Academy at the state tournament.

The track squad promises to be very successful, as a number of men are out, not only good new material, but several of last year's men.

On the whole, the year 1913-1914 has been a most successful one and the success has been due to the repeated efforts of the Athletic Association in arousing spirit and to the loyal support which the student body has given the teams on all occasions.

Thirty-five

FOOT BALL

AT the beginning of the foot ball season, about twenty students responded to the call for team men. But sad to relate, with the exception of three or four, none of the men knew the difference between a goal and a clothes line or between a tackle and a neck-wringing contest, and one man even asserted that he had never seen a foot ball.

Despite all this, Mr. Glazebrook and Mr. Callihan, with patient efforts, got the men into shape and after a time had a so-called foot ball team.

In the first game, with Lombard, they made a fairly good showing and held their rivals to a comparatively low score, 69 to 0. In the following game with Knox, the purple and gold ran up a score of 93. Nevertheless, Galesburg scored, which is something they seldom have done in playing against Knox.

October 11, Galesburg was defeated by Peoria Manual 27 to 16. A week later on Lombard field the yellow and white eleven won their only victory of the season. They succeeded in holding Albia scoreless and ran up a score of 44. This encouraged the boys for a while, but a defeat by Rock Island the following Saturday again caused their hopes to sink. They held Rock Island to the lowest score of the season, allowing them but a single touchdown. November 8, before an immense crowd, Galesburg was defeated by their old rivals, Momanth, and in the two following games were completely swamped by Princeton and Moline.

On Thanksgiving day the team journeyed to Kewanee, where, with practically their second team, they held Kewanee to the low score of 28 to 14. This ended one of the most unsatisfactory seasons for the High School foot ball team that the school has ever known. The prospects for a fine team next year are unusually bright since many of the men will be back.

INDIVIDUAL MENTION

Captain "Jimmie" Webster, playing his fourth year on the team, made an excellent showing all season. In the back field he proved a valuable man and in the line he was soon recognized by his opponents.

"Napoleon" Hoover's first year at quarter showed his ability as a player. He was there with the signals and scarcely ever let a man get past him, saving many a point by his tackling.

Hamblin, half back, otherwise known as "Ziggy," established his reputation as a terror. He did much to make points for the team.

Fuller and Lounis, backs, were both new men on the team. They played a fast, snappy game and deserve credit for their fine work.

Alister Wylie played a star game all season. Though this was his first year on the team, he played like a veteran and showed up in a fine manner. In the games in which he took part he proved a valuable man.

Ingersoll played end. He was a hard tackler and a fine open field runner. He is deserving of all credit given him.

Humphreys, playing the other end, played an excellent game for a new man. He took turns playing end with Olson, a promising man, judged from his good work.

Johnson started in the game in old form, but unfortunately broke his shoulder in the first game, which put him out for the season.

Thirty-five

THE NINETEEN FOURTEEN REFLECTOR

Cater's reputation as center increased with each game. He was considered better than any other center who played against him.

Clark, though a new man, proved to be a good addition to the line. He played center when Cater was out of the game.

Taylor, also a new man, played a fine game and merited his "G."

Rearick, an old man on the team, played his usual strong game in the line. As guard he did such good work that he was a big asset to the team.

Williams, Oberg, Berggren and Anderson, all new men, deserve mention for their work. They worked hard throughout the season and give promise of better work next year.

SCHEDULE AND SCORES OF GAMES

Galesburg .....	0	Lambard .....	34
Galesburg .....	5	Knos .....	32
Galesburg .....	16	Psoria .....	32
Galesburg .....	14	Aledo .....	32
Galesburg .....	0	Rock Island .....	32
Galesburg .....	7	Mountmor .....	32
Galesburg .....	0	Princeton .....	32
Galesburg .....	7	Moline .....	32
Galesburg .....	14	Kewanee .....	32
Total .....	91	Opponents .....	474

THE NINETEEN FOURTEEN REFLECTOR

BASKET BALL

BASKET BALL

WITH the first game at the State Basket Ball Tournament at Decatur, Galesburg closed another most successful basket ball season. Out of seventeen games played, the team lost but three, and these were lost by close scores. Galesburg as champions of the northwestern District of Illinois, contested at Decatur in the state championship series, but unfortunately were defeated by the strong Evanston Academy team in the first game. They were then eliminated from the final contest.

Galesburg had another unusually good team this year and at the beginning of the season they started on their march toward the state championship.

The first game of the season was with Yates City and the yellow and white five easily defeated them by the score of 37 to 24.

The next week Peoria Manual was beaten by the score of 28 to 22 and Galesburg became greatly encouraged. The third victory of the season was over Canton, who lost by the decisive score of 46 to 20. A week later, on January 1st, Galesburg journeyed to Abingdon, where they met their first defeat. The score was very close, 17 to 15, and the game was a continual rough-house from start to finish. Although the score was 12 to 8 in the first half, Galesburg came back strong in the second and tied the score, but Abingdon got two points in the last and won.

Thirty-nine

At Monmouth the following week, Galesburg won another hard fought game, scoring 35 to Monmouth's 28. The score was 20 to 13 against us in the first half, but in the last half the team naturally "cleaned up" with Monmouth.

Two more victories from Abingdon and Moline helped to bring up the average, but the following week Boydston broke his finger and was unable to go to Peoria. There Galesburg met its second defeat by the score of 10 to 19.

The games which followed with Monmouth, Moline and Canton resulted in victories for our team.

The Northwestern District Basket Ball Tournament was held at Knox gymnasium February 27th and 28th. In the first game Galesburg came out victorious by defeating Wyoming 47 to 15, and later in the tournament defeated their rivals, Abingdon, twice by scores of 34 to 39 and 45 to 22. The games were hotly contested and undoubtedly the best ones of the tournament. In the semi-finals, Yates City was easily beaten 39 to 15 and the championship game held late Saturday night, was the biggest joke of the tournament. Moline had become weakened so that Galesburg piled up a score of 83 to 25. Boydston made 15 baskets and Ingersoll 14.

At Decatur, Galesburg was unfortunate in drawing Evanston Academy, the strongest team on the floor, and was defeated by a score of 49 to 23. Hillsboro, a team from the southern part of the state, won the championship. They deserved their hard-earned victory.

As it is, Galesburg cannot kick about the team of '13-'14. They have worked hard throughout the season and have made a name for the school. Not many teams can boast of fourteen of seventeen victories.

INDIVIDUAL MENTION

Captain Ingersoll, the only man from last year's team, played a remarkable game. He played with excellent team work and basket shooting and his work was one of the important factors in bringing about Galesburg's victories.

Boydston, another speedy forward, also helped greatly to make the team what it was. His basket shooting was accurate and he was second in point-making on the team.

Hamblin played a good game all season and ranked first among the guards of this district. He can play any position and is in the game all the time.

Hoover also played a fast, snappy game. He stuck to his man when guarding and played a fast game at forward. He made the district all-star team.

Tearick, at center, played a steady game all season. He was good at jumping and guarding and made quite a few points. He is deserving of much credit for his work.

Fuller, although a sub, had many chances to play during the season and played equally well at guard and forward. In the district tournament he made a fine showing and played an excellent game against Evanston at Decatur.

Webster played in a few games and did some good work at guarding, while Shultz and Lamis put up a good game in the district tournament.

On the whole, the basket ball season was such that Galesburg may look with pride upon her team.

SCHEDULE AND SCORES OF GAMES

Galesburg	37	Yates City	24
Galesburg	28	Peoria	22
Galesburg	46	Canton	20
Galesburg	15	Abingdon	17
Galesburg	35	Monmouth	28
Galesburg	26	Abingdon	24
Galesburg	36	Moline	15
Galesburg	19	Peoria	40
Galesburg	51	Monmouth	15
Galesburg	37	Canton	27
Galesburg	37	Moline	33
Galesburg	47	Wyoming	15
Galesburg	34	Abingdon	30
Galesburg	45	Abingdon	52
Galesburg	30	Yates City	15
Galesburg	83	Moline	25
Galesburg	23	Evanston	49
Total	629	Opponents	421

Thirty-nine

BASKET BALL STARS

CAP "INDY"

STAR FOREWAKI

IN DECATUR

BAGDAD MAN & CUP

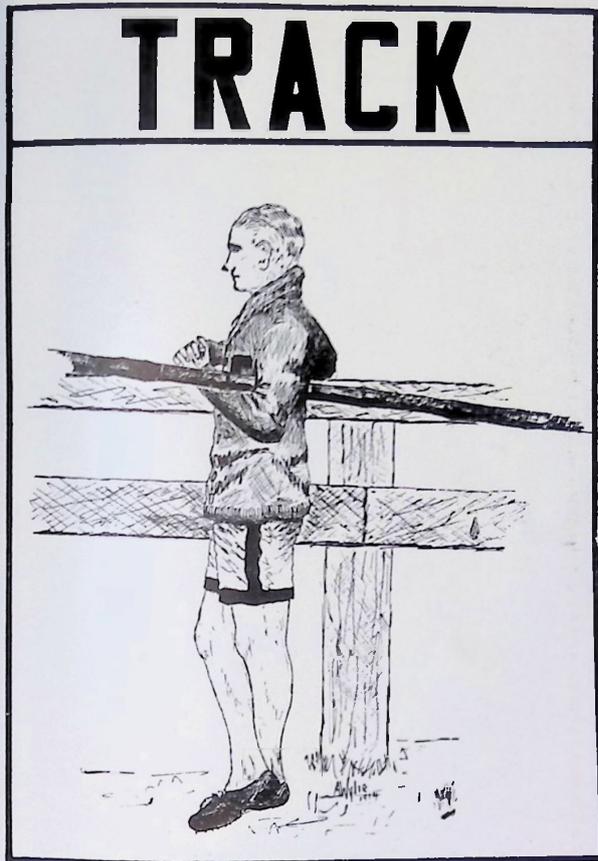

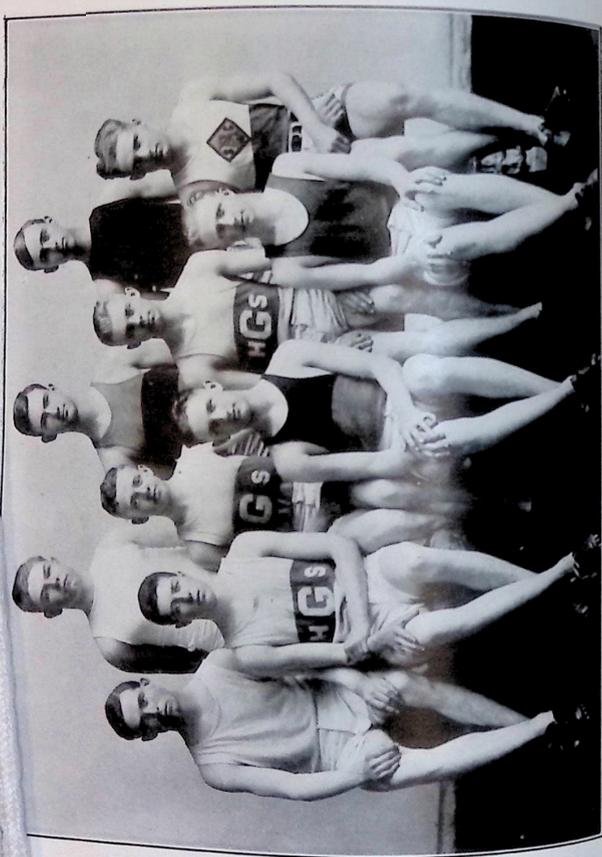

OUR BEST MAN

"ZIGGY"

TRACK

Forty-two

TRACK SEASON

GALESBURG was unusually successful in their track season of 1914. This was probably due to the fact that a number of last year's men were back.

The new men were also exceptionally good for their first year's work. Hamblin and Hoover cleaned up in all the dashes, the 50 yard, 100, and 220. Applegren was luck at the 220 low hurdles and made a good record. Elliston and Tyner ran the mile in fine time. Wylie took care of the quarter mile and pole vault. All the other men, Pritchard, Kinney, Seen, Lucas, Frynire, Shults and Doll all made good records and deserve special mention for their hard work. In the first meet at Galesburg on Tuesday, April 21, Galesburg made an excellent showing and easily walked away with the meet from Knoxville and Abingdon. The total points made were Galesburg, 35; Knoxville, 33, and Abingdon, 10. Galesburg placed in every event except the discus throwing and got first place in all track events.

The points for the triangular meet are as follows:

50 yard dash—Hamblin (G), Hoover (G), Giles (K). Time—6:04.

100 yard run—Wylie (G), Pritchard (G), Burdeman (A). Time—57:02.

100 yard dash—Hamblin (G), Hoover (G), Baldwin (A). Time—10:03.

220 yard hurdles—Applegren (G), Buckley (K), McWilliam (A). Time—27:02.

880 yard run—Doll (G), Burdeman (A), Lewis (K).—Time—2:20.

220 yard dash—Hoover (G), Hamblin (G), Buckley (K). Time—24:01.

Mile run—Elliston (G), Tyner (G), Burkhalter (K). Time—5:21:01.

The Big Eight Interscholastic meet was held on Willard Field, May 2nd. The contest was won by Rock Island, with 25 points, winning over Davenport by two-thirds of a point. Galesburg took a close third place with 22 1-3 points. The meet was fast, being featured by many good races, and two Association records were broken.

The star of the meet was Clark of Rock Island, who easily won first place in the mile and 880 yard run. Hamblin made the greatest number of points for Galesburg, taking first in the 50-yard dash, second in the 100-yard dash and third in the 220-yard dash. Hoover placed in the 220 semi-finals, but did not run in the finals. Applegren, the hurdler, easily won his event by a good sized margin. The other track men worked hard and did well, but failed to qualify in the first three places.

Allister Wylie broke the Big Eight record in the pole vault, clearing ten feet five and one-half inches, which is one and one-half inches higher than the previous mark. Kinney tied for third place with two other contestants in this event and received one-third of a point. In the shot put event, Phillips placed second. Galesburg failed to place in the broad or high jump. The Association relay record was also broken by Rock Island. The time for this event was one minute, forty seconds. Davenport won second and Kewanee took third. The result of the meet was quite satisfactory and Galesburg need not feel disappointed, as the men did their best.

The final meet of the track season was held Saturday, May 9th, at Macomb.

ATHLETICS

WILEY OVER AT 104

TRAP AND AT FOOTBALL ONE

SCRIMMAGE

GALLERBURG KICKS GOAL "ZIGGY" KICKS GOAL

OUR COACH

1/2 MILE RUNNERS

"G" BOYS

AVIATOR

DRAMATICS

Marrett

THE NINETEEN FOURTEEN REFLECTOR

Forty

THE NINETEEN FOURTEEN REFLECTOR
THE DRAMATIC CLUB

OFFICERS
 President.....REUBEN RISBURG
 Secretary.....MARGARET EVANS
 Treasurer.....JULIAN MACK
 Business Manager.....GEORGE APFLEGREN
 Stage Manager.....FLOYD TRACY
 Wardrobe Mistress.....EDITH ALDRICH

THE Galesburg High School Dramatic Club is a lively organization, "up and booming." It is composed of members of the Third Year Reading classes, and its purpose is to perfect the students as far as possible in Dramatic Art.

This year only two large plays have been presented, but two one-act playettes were given, from which the "players" have gotten good practice for the large productions. The plays are always well given and are sure to be successful, judging from the crowds which always attend them. As a result, the coffers of the organization are always well filled, and the club is by no means miserly with its serve funds. On the other hand, it is always anxious to help in any project that can be of benefit to the school, and their financial assistance is duly appreciated. When the proposal for a new recreation room for Galesburg High School was first made, the Dramatic Club immediately offered to start the contributions with a comfortable sum, which will do a great deal toward getting the improvement that we need.

The club also has purchased several new books on Public Speaking, and has subscribed to the "Drama," a magazine which contains reports on the latest plays and players, both of which are valuable additions to the department.

Thus the Galesburg High School Dramatic Club is a "Culture Club," active not only in its own work, but in the furtherance of school interests.

READING DEPARTMENT

ONE of the most important departments in the school is Public Speaking. This department comprises reading classes open to second, third and fourth year students. There the students are taught not only to perfect their reading, but to interpret the author's ideas. They are trained to become fluent speakers, to be able to express their thoughts in good, clear English, and to acquire confidence when appearing in public. No doubt many of our future senators and platform orators are enrolled in one of the Reading classes. We may be harboring the future Speaker of the House! Many startling things, which now seem impossible, may happen, and the training we receive here in Galesburg High School may be the means of bringing them about.

Several different branches of reading have been studied thruout the year, and perhaps the most important is the work in extemporaneous speaking. To be able to give one's views on a subject in a clear, forceful manner, without much preparation, is truly an art and the practice is well worth the time spent in perfecting it.

Then, too, work in character impersonation has proved very successful as well as amusing. The work in character study is splendid practice for those who take part in the High School plays.

Great credit is due the Reading instructor, Miss Jessica E. Royer, for her invaluable assistance and training, since it is thru her efforts that Galesburg High School has been able to accomplish many splendid and note-worthy things in the Public Speaking line.

Forty-seven

DRAMATIC CLUB PLAYS

IN November, the Galesburg High School Dramatic Club gave the first play of the year, "The Rescue of Prince Hal." Kendall Hinman in the leading part was the "hit" of the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Parker, the uncle and aunt of Prince Hal, were impersonated in a very dramatic manner by George Applegren and Margaret Evans. Jennie Roberts and Floyd Tracy took the part of Louise and Wellington Parker, respectively. Mr. Andrew Martin, the uncle of the Prince, was a very amusing character, and even under the weight of spectacles, it was easy to discover Reuben Risberg. Fern Barter was Hal's "aunt," Mrs. Katherine Colvin, and her wonderful interest in her sister's handsome fortune resulted in her deciding to take Hal to Europe with her, thus rescuing the unfortunate boy from his frivolous life in a home, where social ambition reigns. Dorothy Weinberg took the part of Emma, the pretty maid, and in cap and apron played well the part. The play was a great success, as is every production the club gives.

The Senior Play, "The Importance of Being Earnest," was presented by the Dramatic Club, May 15. As usual the Study Hall was crowded, and the play proved to be a great success financially, as well as being a splendid attraction. The play itself is well known, having been presented by professional companies many times. Every member of the cast acquitted himself very creditably, and much praise is due them for their splendid work.

"THE RESCUE OF PRINCE HAL"

CAST

Harry Henderson Hess.....	KENDALL HINMAN
Mr. Sidney Parker.....	GEORGE APPLEREN
Mrs. Sidney Parker.....	MARGARET EVANS
Louise Parker.....	JENNIE ROBERTS
Madelene Foster.....	GENEVIEVE McKEE
Wellington Parker.....	FLOYD TRACY
Mrs. Katherine Colvin.....	FERN BARTER
Emma.....	DOROTHY WEINBERG

"THE IMPORTANCE OF BEING EARNEST"

CAST

John Worthing.....	REUBEN RISBERG
Algernon Moncrieff.....	CRAWFORD ELDER
Rev. Canon Chasuble, D. D.....	WALTER WELCH
Merriman (butler).....	JULIAN MACK
Lane (man servant).....	HENRY NEGGER
Lady Bracknell.....	MARGARET FULLER
Hon. Gwendolen Fairfax.....	EDITH ALDRICH
Cecily Cardew.....	ALICE HAYNES
Miss Prism (governess).....	CATHERINE CRIBBY

"THE TEETH OF THE GIFT HORSE"

October, 1913

CAST

Richard Butler.....	CRAWFORD ELDER
Mrs. Butler.....	EDITH ALDRICH
Aunt Marietta.....	MARGARET FULLER
Anne Fisher.....	DEAL POTTER
Dexby Blake.....	ROY SANDSON
Katie.....	MILDRED WELCH

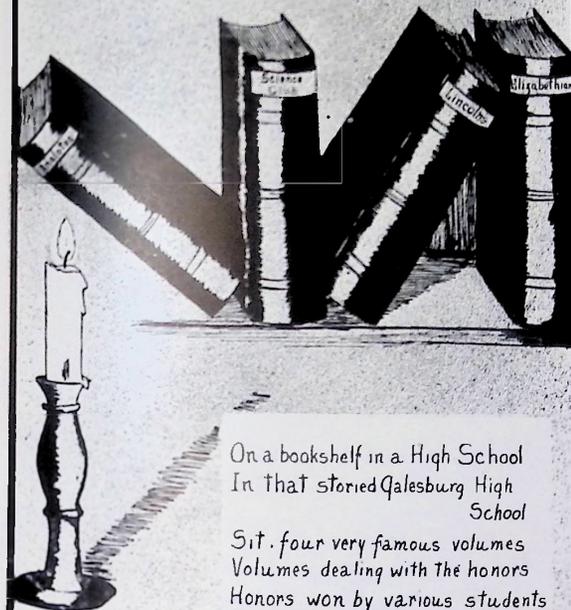

"DOMESTIC ACCOMPLISHMENTS"

February, 1914

CAST

Mrs. Manhattan.....	MARTHA ROMAN
Angelina.....	BERNICE REAM
Clemmie.....	ETHEL CUSTER
Violetta.....	ETHEL REARICK
Estelle.....	ELEANOR GRAHAM
Mary.....	ANNA GOLDSMITH
Mrs. Plodding-Schmidt.....	RUTH HAZEN
Hannah.....	HILDA HAWKINSON

LITERARY

On a bookshelf in a High School
In that storied Galesburg High School

Sit four very famous volumes
Volumes dealing with the honors
Honors won by various students
Members of the Lincolns, Lizzies
Members of the Analotos
And the Science Club included
All the clubs grouped here together.

ANALOTOS LITERARY SOCIETY

OFFICERS
1913-14

September-October

President.....	MARIE VAN BUREN
Vice President.....	MARTHA ROSSMAN
Secretary.....	IREE ZETTERBOLM
Treasurer.....	CONSTANCE BARBERT
Sergeant-at-Arms.....	ALICE HAYES

November-January

President.....	MARTHA ROSSMAN
Vice President.....	MAGY KELLAR
Secretary.....	ADAH GROSS
Treasurer.....	IRMA ROSSMOOD
Sergeant-at-Arms.....	HELEN BARLOW

February-April

President.....	HELEN REARICK
Vice President.....	EDNA BRIDGE
Secretary.....	MARGARET NOBLE
Treasurer.....	IVY MCCORISON
Sergeant-at-Arms.....	GERTRUDE NELSON

May

President.....	GERTRUDE NELSON
Vice President.....	KATHERINE DOLAN
Secretary.....	HELEN SWICKARD
Treasurer.....	PHILLIPINE HAGGLES
Sergeant-at-Arms.....	EUNICE EMERY

THE year 1913-14 has been a most successful one for the Analotos girls. The meetings are held regularly on Wednesday afternoons, and the programs this year have been most interesting. Although debates have, of course, been very frequent, many other novel programs have been given. The Analotos girls have figured prominently in the outside activities of the school, besides taking many of the honors in class room work. The club has been represented in the "Budget," the REFLECTOR, the Orchestra, the operetta, "Bulbul," the plays, declamatory and oratorical contests, and other things.

THE ELIZABETHANS

Historian—Helen Shultz

FIRST TERM

President.....GENEVIEVE MCKENZIE
 Vice President.....DOROTHY WEINBERG
 Secretary.....CATHERINE CRISSEY
 Treasurer.....FRANCES YEARLY
 Sergeant-at-Arms.....MARGARET FULLER

SECOND TERM

President.....RUTH CARLEY
 Vice President.....MARGORIE FULLER
 Secretary.....DOROTHY WEINBERG
 Treasurer.....MILDRED FULLER
 Sergeant-at-Arms.....GENEVIEVE MCKENZIE

THIRD TERM

President.....CATHERINE CRISSEY
 Vice President.....MARGARET FULLER
 Secretary.....HARRIET WEINBERG
 Treasurer.....RUTH BREWER
 Sergeant-at-Arms.....MILDRED DIMMITT

OVER our literary field shines a group of stars called the Elizabethans. For ten years they have cast their radiance about Galesburg High School. Once every week, on Tuesday, as a rule, these bright lights hold meetings and discuss business affairs, play at parliamentary law, then polish their rays by debates or some miscellaneous literary program. Since this galaxy first shone in Galesburg High School it has grown brighter each year, though in no way shadowing the light of former stars. It is the custom that once every year the group shall engage in mighty debate with a very prominent force in the solar system, the Line-Ins. In this encounter our stars ever equal their opponents in brightness.

So little group of stars
 Let your rays be bright.
 That thru all the coming years
 We may see your light.

THE LINCOLN DEBATING CLUB

FIRST TERM

President.....STUART M. CAMPBELL
 Vice President.....CRAWFORD EIDER
 Secretary.....REUBEN RIESBERG
 Treasurer.....JOHN W. ANDERSON
 Sergeant-at-Arms.....MARCUS CRAFT

SECOND TERM

President.....JOHN W. ANDERSON
 Vice President.....MARCUS CRAFT
 Secretary.....VERNON HUBBARD
 Treasurer.....HARRIS BEER
 Sergeant-at-Arms.....GORDON WHITE

THIRD TERM

President.....REUBEN RIESBERG
 Vice President.....LLOYD SHORT
 Secretary.....EARL SCHMITH
 Treasurer.....PAUL ROBBINS
 Sergeant-at-Arms.....STUART CAMPBELL

ANOTHER successful year has been added to the history of the L. D. C. With the spirit that has always characterized the Lincolns, they have taken part in the many outside events of Galesburg High School. Since this marks the tenth anniversary of their organization, the Lincolns have published a review of the entire history and activities of their club. This review—The Lincolnite—is a booklet of twenty-eight pages.

As a debating club, they have entered into the inter-team debates with zest; and have also challenged the girls' societies for debates which were held the latter part of April. Though they have not been so strong in number their members have figured prominently in reading contests, plays and in athletics.

All hail to the Lincolns,
 Their work and their aim;
 All hail to the Lincolns
 Who bring us much fame.
 All hail to the Lincolns
 Who never will shirk;
 For fame to our High School
 Their zealous work.

Fifty-six

THE SCIENCE CLUB

OFFICERS, 1913-1914

	September	November	February
President .....	HULTBERG	HOOPER	ELLISTON
Vice President .....	WYLLIE	NOCKER	HISMAN
Secretary .....	JOHNSON	WILSON	SIEDENBA
Treasurer .....	HOOPER	SHELTZ	HUBBON

THE Science Club, which this year numbers thirty-eight, has had one of the most successful years since its organization three years ago. Their aim primarily is to stimulate an interest in Science. To that end, they have had many interesting meetings, often having college professors to address the club.

They have been busy this year with many projects, not only for their own advancement, but for the good of the entire school. One of the best things they have accomplished has been the remodeling of the Biological laboratory, so as to form a museum, in which to keep the specimens carefully and systematically.

The club holds its meetings on each Tuesday evening, and always with a good attendance. This is partly due to the excellent system of Monitorship, by which the grades of the members are watched, and any one falling below the average is warned to study harder.

The members have been prominent in literary, dramatic, athletic lines in the school, and the Science Club is always ready to get behind any movement for the improvement of Galesburg High School.

Fifty-eight

THE GREGG CLUB

THE Gregg Club of 1913-14, which includes in its membership all those taking advanced shorthand and typewriting, by making the most of its opportunities in social and commercial activities, has enjoyed a prosperous and beneficial year.

The work of the club has been varied. At the regular meetings, programs and social times have been enjoyed. Nearly every month the club has met for an enjoyable time with one or more of its members.

Early in 1914, the club decided it would be beneficial to give business luncheons. At these luncheons, a business man and a member of the Board of Education have been present and have given interesting talks on the duties and efficiency of stenographers. Members of the faculty and parents have also been guests.

Aside from class work, the club has turned out at least 1,200 pages of carbon work; 4,500 pages of Neostyle, including spelling lessons, and 200 letters.

Among other undertakings, the members have reported two speeches, the transcriptions of which were printed on the neostyle and sent to various business men, that they might judge the work accomplished in this department.

Deeming it a privilege to add to the equipment of the department, the club purchased twenty-four individual card catalogues.

Since early spring, classes have been held at 8:10 each morning in addition to the regular work. In all these ways the members have gained much practical knowledge necessary in the business world.

"Letters for transcription"

Save Miss Collins,
There's a rush—then a hush—and away go the ingers in a jutting of phrases,
Which greatly amazes the surprised gazes,
Of those who know not "Gregg."

The clock bells—it tingles, it tingles;
Away to the room of Miss Page we sail,
And into the trying we delve, for we must stop at twelve,
With everything "ready to mail."

RECEIPTS

Cash on hand September, 1913:
Fund for school.....	$15.00
Current fund.....	15.00
Cash in drawer.....	3.17	$33.17

Spelling slips.....		35.65
Inks and lines.....		6.15
Supplies sold.....		1.69
		$76.66

DISBURSEMENTS

Supplies for department.....	$18.15
Equipment for department.....	15.20
Social events.....	4.36
Remembrances.....	.90
Cost for 1914 Reflector.....	5.60
Balance, May, 1914.....	$43.61

Balance, May, 1914:
Fund for school, 1913-14.....	$25.00
Current fund.....	5.00
Cash in drawer.....	3.05	$33.05
		$76.66

Fifty-nine

CAMERA CLUB

OFFICERS

President	RUTH GENT
Vice President	MILDRED SHAFER
Secretary	DOROTHY MELVILLE
Treasurer	JULIAN MACK

THE Camera Club, although they have not done much work this year noticeable to outsiders, have accomplished a great deal in their meetings. Many of the members have learned the art of printing pictures and developing films, and have gotten many good ideas about exposures.

A great many of the pictures in this book were taken by members of the club, and in this way practical experience was gained. A great deal of credit is due Miss Page, who has had charge of the work, for her efficient work in managing the affairs of the club.

DEBATE

ANNUAL GALESBURG-MONMOUTH-CANTON DEBATE

Held March 29, 1914

Resolved, That the policy of fixing a minimum wage by state boards is desirable.

GALESBURG AT MONMOUTH

Affirmative—Galesburg

Reuben Wisburg (leader)      Marcus Craft      Paul Shelton

CANTON AT GALESBURG

Negative—Galesburg

Lloyd Short (leader)      Floyd Tracy      Donald Allensworth

Decision—At Galesburg: Galesburg, 2.
Decision—At Monmouth: Monmouth, 2.
Decision—At Canton: Canton, 2.

FINAL GALESBURG-MOLINE-KEWANEE DEBATE

Held April 10, 1914

Resolved, That the policy of fixing a minimum wage by state boards is desirable.

GALESBURG AT KEWANEE

Negative—Galesburg

Lloyd Short (leader)      Floyd Tracy      Donald Allensworth

MOLINE AT GALESBURG

Affirmative—Galesburg

Reuben Wisburg (leader)      Marcus Craft      Paul Shelton

Decision—At Galesburg: Galesburg, 2.
Decision—At Kewanee: Kewanee, 3.
Decision—At Moline: Moline, 3.

E. L. S.-L. D. C. DEBATE

High School, May 8, 1914

Resolved, That immigration should be restricted by an educational qualification.

BREWER      MCKENZIE      TELFORD

E. L. S.—AFF. DECISION 2

Ruth Brewer
Rudal Telford
Genevieve McKenzie (leader)

PIERSON      HUBBARD      DODDS

L. D. C.—AFF. DECISIONS 1

Vernon Hubbard (leader)
Harry Pierson
Wayne Dodds

A. L. S.-L. D. C. DEBATE

High School, May 8, 1914

Resolved, That immigration should be restricted by an educational qualification.

EVANS      BARRER      REARICK

A. L. S.—NEG. DECISION 3

Margaret Evans (leader)
Fern Barrer
Helen Rearick

ROGERS      SCHMITH      WEST

L. D. C.—NEG. DECISION 0

Earl Schmuth (leader)
George Rogers
Roy West

ORATORY AND DECLAMATION

Boy's Declamatory Contest ..... Lowell Sutherland
(Big Eight Association, Kewanee)

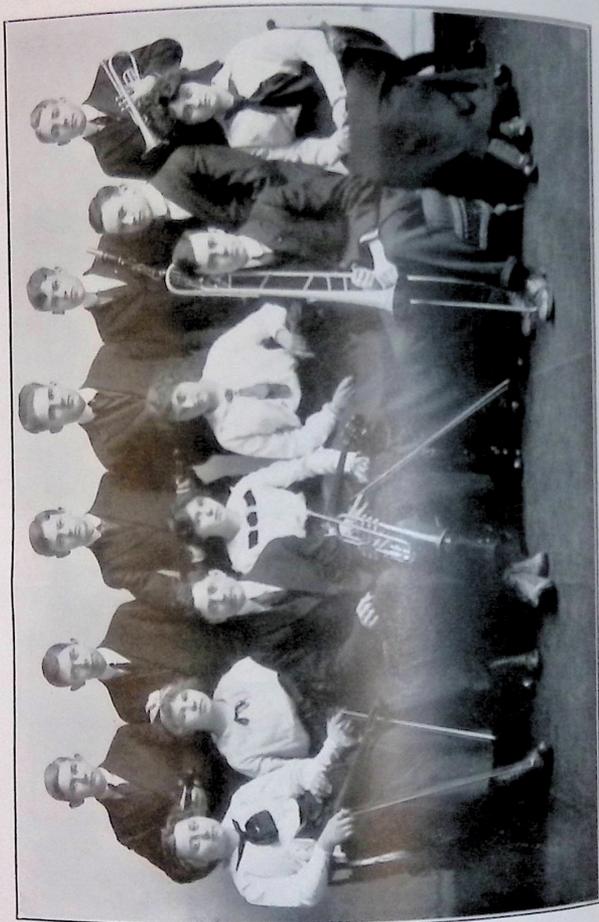

Girls Declamatory Contest ..... Alice Haynes
(Big Eight Association, Rock Island)

Distriet Oratorical and Extempore Speaking—Havanna: Oration, George Wilson
Extempore, Helen Rearick.

Big Eight Oratorical, Galesburg ..... Reuben Risburg

Big Eight Extempore, Davenport ..... Helen Rearick

Seventy

ORCHESTRA

THE work of the orchestra has been exceedingly good this year, their efforts being the more commendable, because of the difficulty in organization. The majority of the members of last year's orchestra graduated, therefore the outlook for this year was rather discouraging inasmuch as the members were mostly new and inexperienced. Under the able leadership of Opal Potter, however, the orchestra has developed the ability to give the students some excellent music. The orchestra has been a great incentive to good work because of its Friday morning appearances and the students have enjoyed the music and greatly appreciated the work and practice which have been necessary to bring about such successful results.

FIRST VIOLIN

Cecilia Gelbardt
Amy Hoyer
Melba Patterson
Mia Eitelgeorge

SECOND VIOLIN

Bristoi Olson
William Gamel
Leslie Anderson

CORNETS

Buene Coffman
Berl Linrotte

TROMBONES

Paul Robbins
Marion Stephenson

CLARINET

Forrest Tenny

DRUMS

Allister Wyle

PIANO

Opal Potter, director

Seventy-one

"BULBUL"

Saturday evening, April 18, the Glee Clubs of the High School presented the comic operetta, "Bulbul," in the Study Hall to a large and enthusiastic audience. The operetta is a clever bit of comedy dealing with court life by Rhys-Herbert and was presented in a most pleasing manner. The soloists displayed fine vocal talents as well as great dramatic ability, the interpretation being exceptionally good in the parts of Princess Bulbul and Prince Caspian. The chorus work formed an especially pleasing part of the program, attesting not only to excellent voices, but also to the careful training by Miss Eitelgeorge, under whose direction the operetta was produced and who deserves much praise for the success of the performance.

CAST OF CHARACTERS

Imit, a well meaning, but fussy monarch.....KENNETH HOWARD
 Bulbul, his daughter.....LUCIAN EITELGEORGE
 Caspian, an amiable young prince.....HAROLD ELLISON
 Ida, the court chaplain.....HELEN BARLOW
 Lilla, a friend to Bulbul.....ALMA LARSEN
 Alain, a friend to Caspian.....LESLIE TAYLOR
 Dusay, a keeper of the royal spectacles.....STUART CAMPBELL
 Justo, keeper of the royal cash box.....WENDE WELLS

Maids of Honor, friends of Prince Caspian, chorus of Lords and Ladies of the Court, Dancers of the Minuet, Housemaids.

Pianist.....ALLISTER WYLLIE
 Business Manager.....LOWELL SUTHERLAND
 Stage Manager.....GORDON WHITE
 Electrician.....GEORGE AFFLERKEN

ODE TO MUSIC

Thou blessed gift from One above!
 Sent to us with a tender love,
 To soothe the fearful, cheer the sad,
 And make the sorrowing soul grow glad;
 Delight of men, whatever birth,
 In lord's domain, or peasant's hearth.
 Tho' hard as stone one's heart may be,
 The charms of music holds the key.
 The heroes in the army ranks,
 About to rout the enemy's flanks,
 Are spurred to viet'ry, unafraid,
 By martial notes, which they hear played,
 The sinner out in life's dark way,
 By strong temptations led astray,
 Is brought to tears by a simple song,
 And reforms his life of sin and wrong.
 O, Music! wherever thou dost lurk,
 What magic wonders thou canst work,
 But better than all that we have heard,
 Thou art "Love in search for a word."

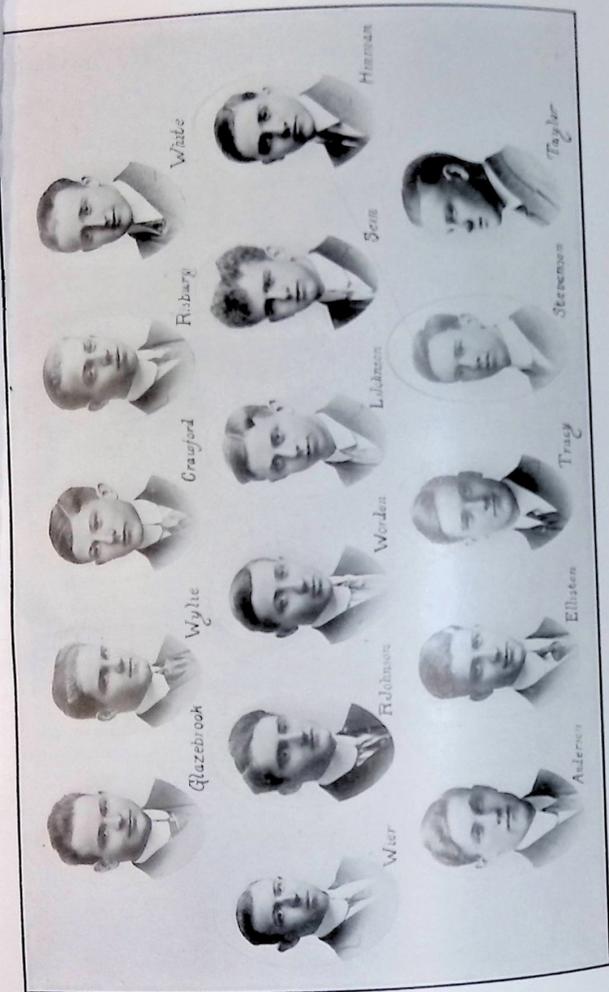

MILDRED WILCOX, '14.

Seventy-two

Seventy-three

BOYS' GLEE CLUB

OFFICERS

President	_____	HAROLD ELLISTON
Vice President	_____	KENNED HINSMAN
Secretary	_____	HUBERT HINBURG

ONE of the most pleasing features of the musical department the past year has been the Boys' Glee Club. This was organized early in the year, and under the competent management of Mr. Glazebrook, the director, the club has met with marked success.

The student body has often been entertained by humorous and interesting selections, some of the most entertaining numbers have been the parodies used in the "pep" meetings. These were written for the occasions, and had the desired effect of arousing enthusiasm among the students. The Galesburg High School Field Song, set to the music of the Illinois Loyalty Song, was exceptionally good.

During the year the Club secured invitations to sing at various outside functions, but they were unable to do so because their time was spent in practicing for the operetta. A quartet, however, composed of the following club members, Floyd Tracy, Wayne Wier, Laurence Anderson and Homer Crawford, filled several engagements. They represented the club creditably, and pleasing reports were heard of their work.

OUR SENIOR YEAR

I sit and muse,
 Much time I lose, perhaps my teachers think,
 I sit and dream,
 In class rooms, too, until they want to scream,
 "Idle now, the time so close,
 When you must graduate?
 What can it mean, it is too late
 To idly dream and tempt kind fate."

But tho' I try,
 I cannot close the door that now is opening,
 Sometimes I'm sad,
 Sometimes I'm glad that spring to summer's ripening,
 Going soon most happy days,
 Our High School life is over,
 In future time we'll hold most dear
 And always praise our Senior Year.

HERE & THERE

A HARRY BURCH

WHEN'S BEING YOUNG

AFTER

DEE DROPS

BIOLOGY OUTING

RUTH COBY COB

SCENE FROM THE PLAYETTE

BILLY OLLIHAN

"MARTY"

LITTLE MARION WILLIS

BUSY ONES

REFLECTOR EDITOR

SPILES

DICK

"REFLECTOR" STAFF

ANALOTOS PRESIDENTS

ONE MAIN POINT

OFF DUTY

CRAMMING

*You drink some strong coffee for supper,
And refuse to eat cookies or jam,
For you must not be sleepy,
When you get ready to cram.*

*And you mount up to your study
With a look like a poor slaughtered lamb,
Then turn on the light and prepare to fight,
When you get ready to cram.*

*Your eyelids droop lower and lower,
And your book strikes the floor with a slam;
Then you wake with a start and grab at that book,
And again get ready to cram.*

*The spirits of martyrs who have suffered sore,
By tortures in far off Siam,
Look down in wonder and pity and awe
On the mortal who has to cram.*

THE BUDGET

THE "Budget" is the "weekly news sheet" of Galesburg High School. It is published every Friday morning of the school year, and all the work except supervision, is done by the students.

The editors and manager are chosen by the Lincoln Debating Club, which nominally controls the paper.

A souvenir number was issued at Christmas, which was the largest one of the year. It contained a review of the foot ball season, several good cuts, and some special articles.

The staffs for the year follow:

FIRST SEMESTER		SECOND SEMESTER
Editor.....	MARGARET EVANS	Editor.....	FLOYD TRACY
Manager.....	CRAWFORD ELDER	Manager.....	CRAWFORD ELDER
STAFF		STAFF
Martha Rodman		Gertrude Nelson
Julian Mack		Vernon Hubbard
Onihaime Crissey		Rachel Jelford
Floyd Tracy		Dora Allensworth
Mildred Wilson		Martha Rodman
Stuart Campbell		Paul Shelton
Sexton Hullberg		Mary Whitsett
Verna Hancock		Kendall Hinman
Marian Kimble		Sexton Hullberg

THE PRINT SHOP

THE Print Shop, where the "Budget" is printed, is well equipped to handle jobs of various kinds. There is a good supply of display type, and the pupils are taught the best use of this. Nearly all the printing for the Board of Education is done here, besides many other outside jobs. The students are taught to set type, make up and lock up forms, and to do press work. The Lincolnite, described on another page, was printed entirely in the Print Shop.

For the first part of the year, the work was in charge of Franz Riekaby, of Knox College, who gave his afternoons to the work. At Christmas, he was forced on account of additional college work, to give up the supervision, and was succeeded by Clarence Williams, also of Knox. Under his efficient management, the boys progressed rapidly, and the "Budget" was issued on time nearly every week.

Oh, to be an author,
To write a squib or rhyme,
To make some pretty verses,
To last for all the time.

Oh, to be an editor,
To keep the "Budget" running,
To liven up the pages dull,
With verses, jokes or punning.

Eighty-two

LATIN

A little Latin reader,
I purchased at the store,
I hoped to be a leader
In that sweet tongue of yore.

Next year, I followed Caesar
Till he crossed the Rubicon;
Learned how he built the bridges
Then later, "cedit pontum."

I then enjoyed Cicero
And all his oratory,
I read a bit of Ovid,
That wondrous fairy story.

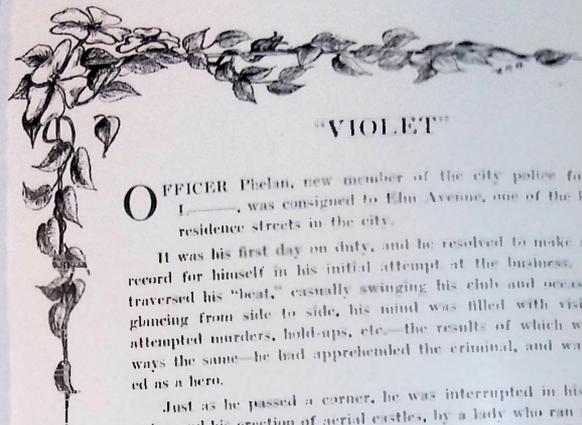

But now I'm reading Virgil,
The best of all the four,
About the gods and heroes
And all the ancient lore.

LATIN

A Dead Language

Dead—am I?
So let it be,
But look about and you will see
Full many a struggling student green
Toiling with my mystic theme.
Burning late the midnight oil,
Wan and pale with all their toil,
I may be dead—but listen here
I'm still a master e'en at this year.

Eighty-three

"VIOLET"

OFFICER Phelan, new member of the city police force in L—, was consigned to Elm Avenue, one of the busiest residence streets in the city.

It was his first day on duty, and he resolved to make a good record for himself in his initial attempt at the business. As he traversed his "beat," casually swinging his club and occasionally glancing from side to side, his mind was filled with visions of attempted murders, hold-ups, etc.—the results of which were always the same—he had apprehended the criminal, and was lauded as a hero.

Just as he passed a corner, he was interrupted in his soliloquies, and his erection of aerial castles, by a lady who ran screaming down the front steps of her home, and rushed up to him shrieking, "O, Violet! Violet! My darling pet has been kidnaped. Officer, there goes a taxicab, and I know the kidnapers are in it. Shoot into it, quick! O, my precious lamb!"

Phelan looked hopelessly after the speeding car and said, "Madam, I'm not allowed to shoot, only in self-defense. Come back to the house and tell me about the robbery. Where was the child; when did it disappear?" And he succeeded in getting the distracted woman home.

As soon as they reached the porch, she began: "She was out here on the porch just fifteen minutes ago, and when I came out here she was gone. O, my precious Violet! Run, officer, quick!"

She was shouting away like mad, but Phelan had started off in a wild dash down the street. She called after him, "She had a pink ribbon on her—." But he was out of hearing. He hastened to the nearest telephone and called the station, gave a report and requested that a gang of officers be sent to assist him in the search for the criminal. Already he was beginning to have faint visions of glittering medals.

Soon the force arrived and led by the hopeful Phelan, they began a diligent search of the neighborhood. They scurried thru back yards, down alleys, across lots, prying into every conceivable corner and hiding place, but finding no clue of the escaped kidnapper.

Meanwhile the distracted Mrs. Searles was frantically tearing her hair, alternately moaning and screaming, and the name "Violet" was frequently mingled with her lamentations.

Finally the search was carried still farther, and the officers had moved to another neighborhood. Still they met with no success, and after an hour's diligent scouring, they retraced their steps to the home of Mrs. Searles on Elm Avenue.

When they went up the front walk, Phelan led the way, a little down-cast over their failure. He walked up the steps, and found Mrs. Searles calmly rocking to and fro in a comfortable chair, all traces of her recent tears having disappeared.

"Madam," he said, as bravely as possible, "We have failed to find your child, or any trace of the capturer. We shall—"

"Oh, that's all right," answered Mrs. Searles, "I've found her. Thank you, gentlemen, very much, for your trouble. Some little boys came past and she followed them down to the next corner, but she didn't stay very long. They were playing in the mud, and she got frightfully dirty. See, there she is, over in the corner! Come here, Violet! Isn't she dear!"

And there was "Violet" over in the corner of the porch lying on a rug, and a very, very dirty "Violet" she was. She got up from the rug, and started toward Mrs. Searles, but on catching sight of the group of strangers, she ran quickly toward them—with a low growl that gave way to a sharp little bark.

Phelan gave vent to one long whistle, and the others collapsed into paroxysms of laughter.

Pointing to the dirty little poodle with the be-draggled pink ribbon around its neck, they mocked, "Violet! Ho! Ho! Ho!"

And therewith ended Officer Phelan's first day as member of the L— police force.

MILDRED WILCOX, '14.

YOU AND ME

Often the heaviest load for me
Seems to you as easy as can be.
And often just the other way
What's sad to you, to me is gay.
It's funny how we're put together
We're just as different as the weather,—
Sometimes happy, sometimes blue—
Now isn't that the way with you?
At working problems, some folks seem
Most like a light, so bright they gleam,
And other folks, somewhat like me,
Find it as hard as hard can be.
It's just the way we folks are built,
It's just the "won't" power and the "will."

ALGEBRA

O Algebra—why art thou here,
 Why dwell in this dark vale of tears;
 Why worry me for these long years
 And change my deep joys into fear.
 Ere long, when ready for my bier
 My chosen friends will gather near
 And say, "How tired she looks, the little dear,
 We must call in the Corner."
 Then he will come and prick his ears
 And say, "A nervous wreck, I fear,
 'Twas caused once in her tender years,
 By Algebra."

SOCIAL EVENTS

ALTHOUGH the various societies and clubs of Galesburg High School put forth great efforts in accomplishing the special purposes for which they were founded, they also have their "annuals" at which time all thoughts of work are laid aside and only pleasure holds sway.

The first social event of the school year was the second annual Thanksgiving banquet of the Science Club held at the Elks'. After partaking of a most delicious dinner the members and their friends enjoyed a short program; a piano solo by Allister Wylie and two short readings from Riley by Miss McGowan. The "banqueters" then in the best of spirits hurried over to the Biological Laboratory of the High School and spent the remainder of the evening playing various games and listening to further piano solos rendered by Allister Wylie. A ghost story was told by Miss McGowan, which so played on their imagination that they almost saw goblins in the corners. Opal Potter recited two poems and displayed her usual skill in impersonation. After several flash-light pictures had been taken, the party disbanded declaring that they had enjoyed a most pleasant evening.

On Wednesday evening, the 10th of December, the Lincoln Debating Club had an "old fashioned hard times party." It was attended by the club members and several members of the alumni. Gordon White impersonated a fat Dutchman; Perry Grubb, a colored minstrel, and a red-haired, freckled-faced country lad Letter, by Stuart Campbell, who rendered it in a most amusing style. "Sam's Erickson, a member of the alumni, gave an interesting reading, after which several selections were played on the victrola. Mr. Irish distributed a series of puns, which demanded some hard thinking, but because most of the members were so busily engaged eating their refreshments, Miss Eitelgeorge won the prize. In the peanut passing race, John Anderson's side declared themselves victors.

On the evening of December 18th, eighty students of the German Department met in the Biological Laboratory for the annual Christmas masquerade. The laboratory was decorated in Christmas colors and an elaborately decorated Christmas tree, with presents for each guest piled in German fashion underneath the table, gave warmth and color to the scene. After an inspection of costumes and a snake dance around the hall, prizes were awarded to Bernice Ritchie and Virla Wolfe for the cleverest and prettiest costumes. Vernon Hubbard and Reuben Risburg before a very "gemütlicher" fire-place, then gave a dialogue in German as a prelude to the distributing of drums, trumpets, dolls and houses. Lester Pritchard disguised as "unser lieber gutherziger Sankt Nick." The company was entertained later with stereopticon views of Germany and Switzerland, after which refreshments were served. Craft and Elder announced for themselves and the whole assemblage, a good time and the party closed with the repeated greeting of "Glücklich Weihnachten, Fröhliches Neu Jahr!"

Snap shots were taken of Fern Sutherland and Virla Wolfe as Colonial dames, Joe Tracy, again in our midst, as a Chinaman; Bearick, Shults and Fidler as representatives of the Wild West, and Craft, Elder and Boydston as the champion cake eaters of the Middle West.

On Wednesday evening, February 5th, the Anatos Literary Society gave their banquet at the Elks' Club. This was undoubtedly the most brilliant function of that nature, which the society has ever had. About thirty couples were present, chaperoned by Miss Eitelgeorge, Miss Sniley and Miss Golliday. The Anatos colors, green and gold, were used as the color scheme throughout. The dinner consisted of five delicious courses; in the salad course and "Anatos Ice Cream," the color scheme, was especially well carried out. The program after the banquet consisted of the following numbers: Piano Solo, Mildred Wilcox; Reading, "The Point of Honor," Alice Haynes; Vocal Solo, "A Perfect Day," Miss Eitelgeorge; Reading, Opal Potter, and the Anatos song, which was sung by the girls, brought to a close the pleasant evening, which was marked by the usual Anatos informality and simplicity.

THE ENGLISH ANGEL

ONE bright March morning Philip Denton, who was the curator of Hydon Museum, leisurely descended the steps of his home on his way to his office, located in the museum.

When he arrived he had yet a few minutes left in which to pick up the papers that he had left scattered around the night before, in his haste to meet a pressing engagement. These papers were the histories of the various coins, geological specimens, and other antiques which the museum contained.

Denton had held the position of curator since his graduation from Effingen High School two years before, when he had received the appointment because of his interest in antiques and the experience which he had received in the school museum.

He was a tall and broad shouldered young man and his face had a dark complexion, which betokens not only outdoor life, but incidentally robust health. His eyes were always sparkling and he had that smile which is always indicative of persons of good nature.

When Denton finished picking up the scattered papers and had put them away, the eight o'clock whistles were blowing. He proceeded to open the doors proper to the museum, after which he returned to the office and began cataloguing some new specimens which had arrived the day before. Visitors seldom came to the museum before 8:30, so he was surprised, therefore, when, on entering the museum he found a man deeply absorbed in looking at the case which contained a collection of the most valuable of the coins. In fact, the man was so absorbed that he gave a start when he noticed Denton in the room, but if Denton noticed it, he did not show it.

After the usual morning greetings were over, Denton proceeded to show the stranger around the museum. He explained everything in regard to the origin and history of the specimens which the well-filled museum contained, but the stranger evinced no special interest, it seemed, for he was continually glancing in the direction of the coin case. By this time, quite a few more visitors had arrived and as he had shown Mr. Fraun (as the stranger gave his name) practically everything, he courteously excused himself and took charge of the other visitors.

Thus the morning wore away, with visitors coming and going, except Mr. Fraun, who still remained, and it happened that Denton always found the man's eyes on him whenever he glanced in his direction. When noon arrived Mr. Fraun departed, as did also Denton, who always left the museum in charge of the janitor during the noon hour.

When he returned at 1:30, several people were there, but he did not see Mr. Fraun, for which he was thankful as he said to himself, for he could not help having a premonition that something would happen in which he (Mr. Fraun) would be concerned. But as he did not appear all afternoon, Denton gradually forgot his suspicions.

The next morning he arrived at his usual early hour, but he was well occupied during the entire morning, meeting visitors and conducting them around the museum.

It was yet a few minutes before twelve, but as the janitor had not yet arrived he took up the newspaper and read until he noticed with a start that it was a quarter after twelve and no janitor in sight. He hastily donned his overcoat and hat and went through the museum in search of him. But as he did not find him in the halls he went to the janitor's room which was at the end of the building.

As he opened the door he was shocked to find Blackmoor, the janitor, securely bound, hands and feet, to the chair and also gagged. When he had taken out the gag and untied him, he asked what the trouble was.

"Sir, I—I—I," but he got no further, for he fell over in a dead faint. Denton soon had him out of it, but not until some fast work had been done on his part. When Blackmoor was able to stand, Denton hastened to his office and telephoned for Dr. Hertz. The doctor soon arrived and after he had given the janitor a restorative he soon revived.

"Now, can you explain what this is all about, Blackmoor?" asked Denton.

"Yes, sir, I can, but," and it looked as if he was going to fall again, but he controlled himself with a great effort and proceeded. "I was just locking the door to retire,—I live here, sir"—this to the doctor—"when the door suddenly burst open and two men entered and covered me with revolvers. I put up my hands instantly, and before I knew it I was tied and gagged the way you found me, sir. When they had finished they left, and I knew no more until this morning."

"Can you describe them?" Denton hurriedly asked.

"Yes, sir, I believe I can," and while he was doing so Denton suddenly uttered an exclamation and as the doctor and janitor glanced at him he pronounced the name, "Fraun."

"Who is that?" Hertz and Blackmoor questioned together.

Denton then told of the stranger he had met the day before, and his queer actions. "Oh," he exclaimed and before the doctor or janitor knew what he was about he had disappeared through the door and when they came into the museum they found him leaning over the coin case, and with a worried look on his face.

"Look," he said, "Do you see the angel?" Both of his listeners knew to what he referred and when they glanced into the case, no sign of the angel was seen. Let it be explained that the angel was a piece of English money, coined between the years 1465 and 1634. Its traditional use was that it was always presented to one touched by the sovereign for the king's evil.

He has taken it, then, "Denton said assured now that Fraun must have taken it.

By this time the noon hour had passed, so Denton closed the doors and commenced with the doctor the search. But they could find no way in which the thief could have gotten into the case for it was sealed.

"Let us go out and see whether anything could be done from the outside," the doctor proposed. The case stood about one and one-half feet from a window, which was in that part of the wall. The window itself was composed of panes nine by twelve inches.

They could discover no scratchings on either the sill or frame of the window, but just as Denton was leaving he accidentally drew his fingers over the putty holding one of the lower panes. His fingers stuck for a second, and on closer observation he found that the putty was soft all around the pane.

"Hertz, come here quick," he yelled out for the doctor was just entering the building again. When he returned Denton hurriedly told him of his discovery.

Denton was just going to remove the pane when Hertz stopped him and told him to wait until a detective came so that he could make copies of the fingerprints.

The detective was soon upon the scene, and after he had finished taking the copies, he left, telling Denton to come to the headquarters in the morning if he wished to find out anything definite about the results. In the meantime, telegrams had been sent all over the surrounding country, and to Denton's satisfaction a report came from Lanning, fifty miles southeast of Effingen to the effect that they were holding a man of whom they were suspicious.

His fingerprints were taken and sent to Effingen, where, on being compared with those which the detective had, were found to be exactly the same. So they had captured the thief, was the news that greeted Denton the next morning, when he arrived at headquarters. The prints were found to coincide with those on record of a notorious criminal who had long been wanted for other burglaries and for forgeries.

A few days later when he confessed, he said that he had taken the coin because he had read about it and wished to try his skill in getting it. He would certainly have escaped but for the fact that the putty was still soft, the only way of discovering how it was stolen, as the putty had been darkened to resemble the old.

When the pane was removed, it was seen that a panel in the back of the case, directly opposite the pane, had been cleverly removed and after the coin was taken, replaced.

The coin, so he said, he had thrown into the river to get rid of it, so that he would not get caught by having it found on him.

Denton was sorry to have lost the coin, but he determined to take added precautions in the future, in safeguarding the valuables of the museum.

THE DOMESTIC SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

THE Domestic Science Department, though, perhaps, not so prominent as other phases of school life, is, nevertheless, accomplishing wonders in its line. Under competent instructors the girls receive valuable training in household economy and science. Anyone passing through the corridors on the second floor of the Central Building while a class in cooking is in progress, is assailed by tempting odors wafted from the kitchen.

Every Friday delicious luncheons are served in the Dining Room of the Department, the proceeds from which are used to better the equipment of the rooms.

MILLINERY

A NEW department has been added to the High School,—the department of Uncertainties, to be more definite, Millinery. Perhaps nothing is so uncertain as hats, unless it is the weather. The hats this year are marked by unusual individuality. Attracted by the possibilities of such individuality, a number of interested girls formed new classes in which they might construct those beautiful creations which so charm, (and often annoy), their masculine friends. Miss Dawson has charge of the classes that meet every week to learn the intricacies and secrets of millinery art. This new department will undoubtedly prove to be of great value to the High School girls.

D.W.

JOKES

PERFECTLY OBVIOUS

You can push a pen, but a pencil must be led.

First Student—"Gee, I had an awful fright last night."
Second Student—"Yes, I saw you with her."

Landlady—"I'll give you just three days in which to pay your rent."
Student—"All right, I'll take the Fourth of July, Christmas, and Easter."

Teacher—"In public speaking, what is the best way to walk about on the platform?"
Bright Student—"Well, don't move both feet at once."

"You bet I'm going to have a rehearsal before I die, so I'll know how."
Ruth Brewer.

John, describing a person's gait, said, "It reminds me of a person tangoing to slow music."

Miss Smiley—"Well, John, you will have to be more explicit."

Floyd Tracy (as usual)—Twa-twa-twe-twa, etc.

Helen Morrissey—"Did Smollett add morality to the novel?"
Miss Way—"More what?"

"A man who will not labor will not work."—Ruth Brewer (again).

Junior—"I thought you took geometry last year."
Soph—"I did, but the faculty excused me."

THE VICTROLA

Silent now for many a day,
 Little knowing we had to pay
 So dearly for its singing voice,
 What made us take it as our choice,
 But stay—methinks I hear a tune,
 What—can it be that now so soon
 The object of my doleful story
 Hath wakened yet to wondrous glory?
 It has—it has—I may rejoice,
 How glad I am it was our choice.

Inquisitive Pupil—"When is a joke not a joke?"
 Joke Editor—"Usually."

A new characteristic—"The man was repentive."—Opal Potter.

BY THE WAY

A student brought in a poem to the Reflector editor the other day, and advanced the information that he had written it in a cab. Well, it certainly looked like hack work.

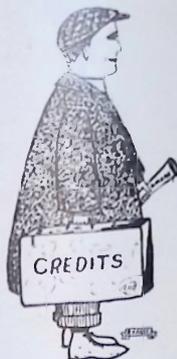

FRESHMAN

SOPHOMORE

JUNIOR

SENIOR

"TALK WITH GAS" For Rates see Crawford Elder	ADVERTISE WITH US. Results in Doubt. Female Impersonating Low Rates Mick Myers
HORSE SALE - WE DON'T NEED 'EM ANY LONGER. LATIN DONKEY TAME SKIND GENTLE APPLY TO SENIOR CLASS.	Mile. O Potter Beauty Parlor Get a Sample Jar of The Wonderful Eitel George Massage Cream H. HOLMES MODISTE
FASHIONABLE CLOTHES Be Sure to See My New Neckties A Wylie. Successor to ITSIG &amp; CO.	HAIRCRESSING A SPECIALTY Does Your Hair Match Your Crown M. MASON - FOREIGN CORRESPONDENT          K. HINMAN - MESSENGER BOY
REARICK BANK Capital - 14¢ Pres. H. Rearick          V. Pres. Plug Rearick          Cashier - Mr. Rearick MOTTO "It's a shame to take the money"	Professional Escort C'est Chic Dr. Pritchard Sure Cure for FEMINITIS Proof Experience is a Good Teacher Dates made To Order          Count Juliette Mackillo Hours - ANY TIME
WANT ADS Lost Mildred Fuller Freshmen. My Book wants her "How To Become a Great Quarter-Back" Senior Like Mr. on Sale  <small>GEORGE APPEL GREEN</small> Lost My Tenor Learn The Tango Voice Finder may Competent Teachers keep Same M. Craft M. Govern-Barlow WANTED: An Incurable Attack of FEMINITIS  <small>Luther Johnson, M. Storrison, O. Allenworth, Cecil Patterson, Storm Schultz, Helen Carlstrom and Dale Burtles.</small>

THE REFLECTOR STAFF

Editor-in-Chief.....STUART CAMPBELL
 Assistant Editor.....MARGARET EVANS
 Business Manager.....CRAWFORD ELDER
 Faculty Advisor.....IDA H. WAY

STAFF

CATHERINE CRISSEY
 RUTH HAZEN
 ALICE HAYNES

SIXTOS HULTBERG
 JULIAN MAUCK
 MILDRED WELCOX
 MARIAN KIMBLE

MARGARET FULLER
 HELEN JOHNSON
 RICHARD SPAKE

THE AFTERWORD

A GREAT many people have been concerned in the publishing of this Reflector, and to all of them the editor extends his thanks. First, we should speak of the staff—a loyal, hard-working body of students. They all have had plenty to do in the way of writing articles, taking snapshots, reading proof, and so on.

Many others have helped by writing special articles, contributing pictures, and preparing drawings for the engraver.

The Freshman section was written by Hortense and Helen Maddox, Marjorie Simonds, and Cornelia Simpson; the Sophomore by Eva Roberts and Earl Schmidt; the Junior by Marjorie Mason, Harold Elliston, and Richard Spake; and the Senior by Ruth Hazen and Margaret Fuller.

Miss Page has helped greatly in mounting and arranging snapshots.

Thanks must be given the artist staff, whose names appear below, for all the drawings which are published, except the track heading, which was drawn by Allister Wylie.

The Graduates

CLASS ROLL GIRLS

NOTE—E. L. S. stands for Elizabethan Literary Society; L. D. C. for Lincoln Debating Club; G. S. C. for Greek Short-hand Club.

ALDRICH, EDITH MAY.....	128
E. L. S.; Treas. '12; Vice Pres. '13; German Club; Dramatic Club; "Teeth of the Gift Horse"; "Importance of Being Earnest."
ANDERSON, ALCY.....	105
ANDREWS, HORTENSE EVELYN.....	112
G. S. C.
ARMSTRONG, ELBA CORENE.....	110
BALLARD, ESTHER.....	110
Camera Club; Dramatic Club.
BARRER, MARY FERN.....	105
Vice Pres. Senior Class; A. L. S.; Pres.; Dramatic Club; Glee Club; Girl's Declamatory; '12, '14; "Ballad."
BURMOOD, IRMA BELLE.....	109
A. L. S.; Camera Club; Dramatic Club; Treas. Amalthea.
CALDWELL, LOBRATNY.....	106
Amalthea; German Club; Dramatic Club.
CALSON, HARRIET MARIE.....	102
CAMPBELL, BESSIE R.....	155
D. A. R. Essay Contest.
CARLEY, RUTH TEMPLE.....	135
E. L. S.; Pres.; Treas.
CARLSON, MYRTLE A.....	103
CLARK, SADIE LEOTA.....	114
CLAY, MARION LOUISE.....	111
CRAWFORD, MERTIE M.....	112
CRISSEY, CATHARINE.....	148
E. L. S.; Vice Pres.; Pres.; Dramatic Club; Vice Pres. German Club; Budget Staff; Girl's Declamatory; Reflector Staff.
CURTIS, DELMA.....	141
CUSTER, ETHEL MAY.....	141
E. L. S.; Dramatic Club; "Ballad"; Girl's Glee Club.
DAHLSTROM, RUTH ETHEL.....	118
G. S. C.
DEETS, ISLEA FAYE.....	138
German Club.
DIMMITT, MILDRED C.....	112
E. L. S.
DENN, FLORENCE MARIE.....	106
EBERSTEIN, ALDA D.....	100
Dramatic Club.
EGAN, BERNICE LUCILE.....	135
Camera Club.
EVANS, MARGARET LUCILLA.....	152
A. L. S.; Sec.; Pres.; Dramatic Club; Sec. Budget Staff; Budget Editor; '12; Assistant Editor Reflector; '14; Play; '13; Declamatory Contest; D. A. R. Essay Contest.
FERRIN, ISLA LUCILE.....	111
FREEMAN, EDNA F.....	114
German Club; Dramatic Club.
FULLER, MARGARET HAZZARD.....	106
E. L. S.; Pres.; Vice Pres.; Triangular Debate; '12; Dramatic Club; Reflector Staff; "Teeth of the Gift Horse"; D. A. R. Essay Contest; Glee Club; Importance of Being Earnest."
GABRIELSON, EMELINE M. O.....	105
GABRIELSON, MARIE FRANCES.....	104
GERTHART, CELESTIA GRAY.....	146
E. L. S.; German Club; Dramatic Club; Budget Staff; Orchestra.
GENT, L. RUTH.....	142
A. L. S.; Camera Club; German Club; D. A. R. Essay Contest.
GOFF, HAZEL BELLE.....	120
GOLDSMITH, ANNA LOUISE.....	170
A. L. S.; Vice Pres.; Camera Club; German Club; Sec. Dramatic Club; Playette.
GRAHAM, ELEANOR CECILIA.....	148
Dramatic Club; Glee Club.
GRAHAM, VERA LUCILE.....	121
GROSS, ADAM REBECCA.....	157
A. L. S.; Secretary; German Club; Dramatic Club.
GUDGELL, LUELLA MAY.....	117
HAWKINSON, HILDEGARDE ELIZABETH.....	158
Dramatic Club; Playette; Camera Club.

THE NINETEEN FOURTEEN REFLECTOR

HAYNES, ALICE MARGARET	118
A. L. S.; Camera Club; Press; '12; Dramatic Club; "The Freshman" Club; Declamatory, '13; '14; A. L. S.-L. D. C. Debate; '13; D. A. R. Essay Con- test.
HAZEN, RUTH	119
E. L. S.; Pres. Vice Pres; Camera Club; Declamatory Contest, '13; E. L. S. A. L. S. Debate, '13.
HIGGINS, MYRTLE IRENE	120
Outlook; Camera Club.
HODGE, MABEL FRANCES	120
HOLMES, HELEN	120
E. L. S.
HOWELL, CLARICE MARIE	120
JACKSON, OLIVE FRANCES	120
JOHNSON, HELEN MARIE	120
A. L. S.; G. S. C.; Dramatic Club; Camera Club; Declamatory Contest; Re- flector Staff.
JOHNSON, MILDRED M.	121
Camera Club.
JOHNSON, RUTH E.	121
E. L. S.; G. S. C.
KEITH, MARGARET	122
A. L. S.
KIMBLE, MARION ELLEN VIRGINIA	122
E. L. S.; Camera Club; Dramatic Club; Playette; Budget Staff; Reflector Staff.
KIMLER, VERA	122
E. L. S.; German Club; Dramatic Club; D. A. R. Essay Contest.
LAGEGREN, FLORENCE DOROTHY	122
E. L. S.
LEWIS, GRACE RACHEL	122
LEWIS, NAOMI EUNICE	122
G. S. C.
LINDSTROM, HAZEL RUTH	122
G. S. C.
LOFGREN, ALICE ELIZABETH	122
LUNDBLUST, MAYBELLE	122
Camera Club.
McGRATH, GLADYS C.	122
Dramatic Club; German Club.
MCKENZIE, LUCY GENEVIEVE	122
E. L. S.; Pres. Vice Pres; Athletic Association; Vice Pres., Dramatic Club; "Rescue of Prince Hal"; E. L. S.-L. D. C. Debate, '13-'14.
MCHERRIN, ALICE MARION	122
MARTIN, CHELLA R.	122
MELVILLE, DOROTHY	122
Camera Club.
MILLER, MARTHA G. E.	122
Camera Club.
MORRIS, GLADYS MARGARET	122
MOWRY, MARIAN E.	122
E. L. S.; German Club.
MUMFORD, GLADYS IRENE	122
Outlook Club.
MURRAY, BIRDIE	122
Chorus.
OWEN, PAULINE GRIFFITH	122
PONT, FRANCES MARIE	122
G. S. C.
POTTER, OPAL A.	122
A. L. S.; composer of Anatos Song; REFLECTOR, '11, '12; Dramatic Club; Glee Club Pianist; Playette; Director of Orchestra; Declamatory.
QUAINANCE, LILLIAN M.	122
QUINN, FLORENCE	122
REAM, BERNICE MYRA	122
A. L. S.; German Club; Camera Club; Dramatic Club; Playette; Declamatory; A. L. S.-L. D. C. Debate, '14.
REARICK, HELEN LOUISE	122
A. L. S.; Dramatic Club; German Club; Pres. and Sec. of A. L. S.; Triangular Debate; Playette; Extemp. Speaking Contest.
REED, LILLIAN MARIE	122
A. L. S. Sec. and Treas; German Club; Vice Pres.; Glee Club; Pres.; "Ballad." Declamatory, '12.
ROBERTS, MABLE BLISS	122
Dramatic Club.
RODMAN, MARTHA LOUISE	122
A. L. S. Vice Pres.; Pres.; Dramatic Club; Budget Staff; Class Treas.; "Domes- tic Accomplishments."
SANDBERG, GRACE C.	122
SCHULTZ, IRENE FERBY	122
SCHWARTZ, ANNA B.	122

Ninety-eight

THE NINETEEN FOURTEEN REFLECTOR

SHARER, FLORENCE MARIE	122
A. L. S.; Camera Club; German Club.
SHULTS, HELEN FRANCES	122
E. L. S.; Glee Club; Sec.; "Ballad"; D. A. R. Essay Contest; German Club.
STEPHENSON, MYRTLE L.	122
Camera Club.
STRANDBELL, RUTH	122
G. S. C.
STONEBRAKER, HELEN	122
SUTHERLAND, FERN MARIE	122
German Club.
SWANK, LILLIAN BERNICE	122
E. L. S.
SWANSON, AGNES	122
G. S. C.
SWANSON, LILLIAN RUTH FLORENCE	122
SWANSON, NELLIE	122
G. S. C.
SWENSON, EMELIA	122
Reading Contest.
TARPY, LUCILLE	122
TRUDISON, ESTHER CHRISTINE	122
VEDEEN, MARIE VIOLET	122
WALLACE, RUTH HELENA	122
A. L. S. Sec. '12; German Club; Dramatic Club.
WARD, LUCILLE GERTRUDE	122
G. S. C.
WATKINS, GRACE ELLEN	122
WATSON, GARNETT	122
G. S. C. Pres. '14.
WEINBERG, BLANCHÉ CORDELIA	122
A. L. S.; G. S. C. Sec. '14.
WEINBERG, DOROTHY MARGARET	122
E. L. S.; Vice Pres. '13, Sec. '14; German Club; Dramatic Club; "Rescue of Prince Hal."
WEMMERGREN, MAE VICTORIA	122
G. S. C.
WENZELMANN, NAOMI	122
German Club.
WILCOX, EMERIL MILDRED	122
A. L. S. Pres. '12; German Club; Vice Pres. '12; Dramatic Club; Budget Staff; Triangular Debate, '12; Declamatory; Playette, '13; Reflector, '14; Reading Contest, '14.
WOLFE, VIRLEA	122
Outlook Club.
ZETTERHOLM, INEZ MARGARET	122
A. L. S. Sec. '13; Dramatic Club; Triangular Debate; Declamatory Contest.

CLASS ROLL BOYS

ABRAHAMSON, LEONARD W.	122
G. S. C.
ADAMS, HALE DOUGLAS	122
Science Club.
ANDERSON, JOHN WILLARD	122
L. D. C. Treas.
APPLEGREN, CARL GEORGE	122
Dramatic Club; German Club; Treas.; 2nd Football Team; Track; Oratorical Contest; "David Copperfield"; "Rescue of Prince Hal."
BAUER, FLAMER	122
Basket Ball Team; German Club.
BOYSTUN, CHARLES S.	122
BROWN, CLARENCE A.	122
CAMPBELL, EARL W.	122
CAMPBELL, STUART McALPINE	122
L. D. C. Treas. Sec. Pres; Class '14; Pres; Glee Club; E. L. S.-L. D. C. De- bate, '14; Budget Staff; Editor REFLECTOR, '14.
CARLSON, CLARENCE A.	122
CARLSON, CLARENCE A.	122
CLIFFORD, FRANK L.	122
L. D. C. D. A. R. Essay Contest.
COFFMAN, BEIRNE H.	122
DONOVAN, HENRY GEORGE	122
G. S. C.; Outlook Club.
ELDER, CRAWFORD LATTERNER	122
L. D. C. Vice Pres.; Bus. Mgr.; Budget, '13-'14; Dramatic Club; German Club; Playette; "Tooth of the Gift Horse"; "Importance of Being Earnest." Bus. Mgr. Reflector; Lincolnite Staff.

Ninety-nine

THE NINETEEN FOURTEEN REFLECTOR

GRETGA, EARL A.....	CREDITS
GRIFFITH, CLAUDE RUSSEL.....	100
L. D. C.	114
HAWKINSON, LAURENCE O.....	104
G. S. C.
HIXMAN, KENDALL GODDARD.....	150
Pres. Senior Class; Science Club; Vice Pres. Dramatic Club; Glee Club; "Bulbul;" Budget Staff; Camera Club; "Rescue of Prince Hal."
HORNEY, GLENN.....	107
Science Club.
INGERSOLL, S. LAWRENCE.....	121
Foot Ball Mgr., '13-'14; Basket Ball, '13, Capt. '14; German Club.
JOHNSON, ROY PERCIVAL.....	117
KELLY, HAROLD A.....	114
L. D. C.
LARSON, HAROLD M.....	115
L. D. C.; Camera Club.
LINDQUIST, FRED W.....	109
MCGOVERN, PAUL S.....	145
L. D. C.
MACK, JULIAN JACOB.....	103
Science Club; German Club; Camera Club; Dramatic Club; Budget Staff; Reflector Sporting Editor; "Importance of Being Earnest."
MIDDAUGH, WILLIAM W.....	112
MURPHY, CLARENCE L.....	115
Science Club.
NECASEK, FREDERICK HENRY.....	140
Science Club; Vice Pres.; Dramatic Club.
NELSON, ROY A.....	101
OLSEN, EARL FERDINAND.....	141
PERRY, GEORGE MASON.....	103
PHILIPS, FREDERICK WISSER.....	157
Pres. Athletic Association; '13; German Club; Track, '11-'12; Basket Ball, '12-'13.
PRITCHARD, LESTER A.....	154
L. D. C.; German Club; Circulation Mgr., Budget, '14.
REARICK, HAROLD.....	103
Foot Ball, '12-'13; Basket Ball, '14.
RISBURG, REUBEN.....	161
L. D. C. Sec. Vice Pres. Pres. Sec. Senior Class; Dramatic Club Pres.; Ke-wance and Monmouth Debates, '14; Oratorical and Declamatory Contests; Glee Club; "The Freshman;" "Rescue of Prince Hal;" "Importance of Being Earnest."
ROBBINS, PAUL.....	109
L. D. C. Treas., '11; Orchestra.
SCOTT, SHIRLEY S.....	142
SCHULTZ, KARL J.....	100
SMITH, DAVID MAYNARD.....	126
SWANSON, LEROY MONTER.....	155
Dramatic Club; "Teeth of the Gift Horse."
TAYLOR, LESLIE CARTER.....	146
L. D. C.; German Club; Glee Club; Foot Ball; "Bulbul."
TIPTON, RAY C.....	113
G. S. C.; Camera Club.
TYNER, WILLIAM NEWLON.....	140
L. D. C.; 2nd Foot Ball, '13-'14; Manager Foot Ball, '13-'14; Track, '12-'13-'14.
WALKER, JESSE ELMER.....	100
WATSON, GEORGE RAYMOND.....	153
L. D. C.
WEBSTER, JAMES EDWIN.....	142
Vice Pres., '13; 1st Foot Ball Team, Capt., Team, '13-'14.
WEICH, WALTER STEPHEN.....	103
Dramatic Club; Declamatory, '13; Oratory, '14.
WEIR, G. WAYNE.....	112
Glee Club; "Bulbul."
WORDEN, EARL SPENCER.....	100
Glee Club; "Bulbul;" G. H. S. Band, '14.

THE NINETEEN FOURTEEN REFLECTOR

Honor Roll

FOURTH YEAR

	PER CENT.
Helen Shultz	97.42
Helen Bearick	97.26
Verna Kimler	96.92
Margaret Fuller	96.85
Margaret Sharer	96.66
Inez Zetterholm	96.33
Raymond Watson	96.18
Fern Barrer	96.1
Bessie Campbell	96.1
Julian Mack	96.07
Marie Reed	96.01
Gladys Mumford	95.8
Ruth Wallis	95.74
Margaret Evans	95.70
Ruth Gent	95.65
Helen Johnson	95.61
Anelia Swenson	95.59
Anna Goldsmith	95.55
Martha Rodman	95.33
Hildegard Harkinson	95.2
Fern Sutherland	95.
Mildred Wilcox (with 216 credits)	94.87

THIRD YEAR

	CREDITS
Blanche Weinberg	96.88
Mae Wimmergren	96.72
Ruth Strandell	95.82
Ruth E. Johnson	95.

Last Words

"Go, little Booklet, go,
Bearing an honored name,
Till everywhere that you have went,
They're glad that you have come."
"Nye"

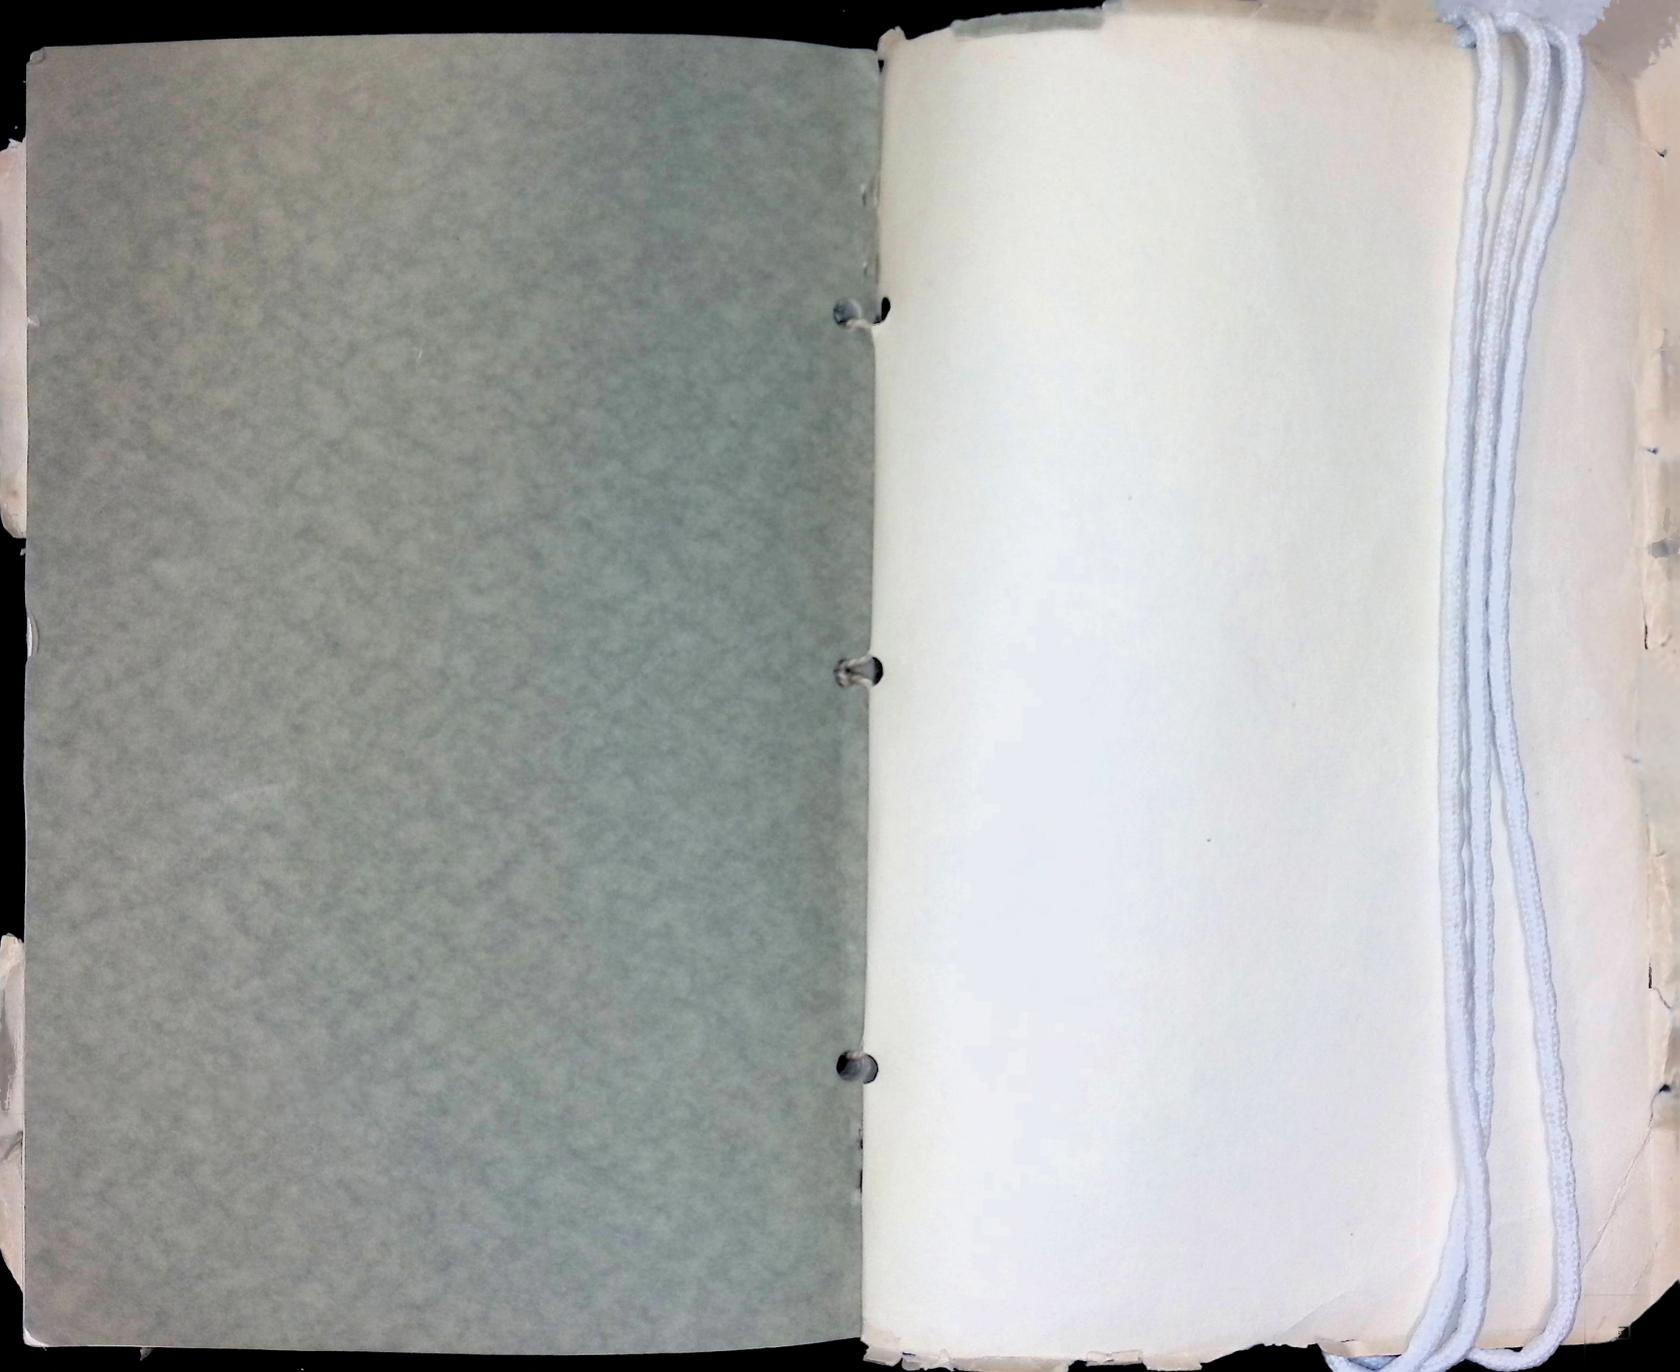

One Hundred Two

One Hundred Three

CALIFORNIA PUBLIC LIBRARY

A21905 763066