In utund of Bilner shine a flame of Gold Co light our mem'rien back to days of old.

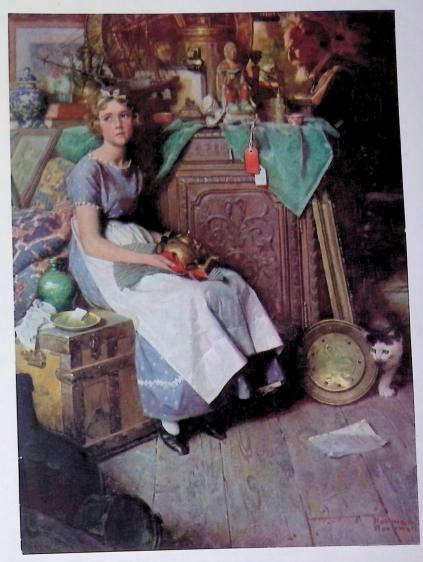

The Chest o' Memories

When we go up into the attic, After climbing the rickety stair, There rests, away back in the shadows, An old chest, hidden there.

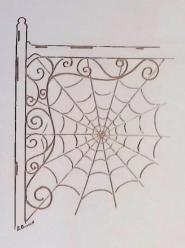

On lifting the chest's worn cover, Amid creeping sunlight rays, We find in its deep recesses Mementos of high school days.

Some things we had almost forgotten Are brought back so vividly then, It seems that our old professors Stand with us there once again.

As we gaze on that chest of mem'ries, We dream of the days of yore, And settle down for a long afternoon To live them through oure more.

"And as I looked across the drifted snow,
Into the beauty of a future day,
I mondered if my life mould reach away
As white, as clean, as free from scar or wor"

Toward thee, Galesburg, dear old high school, Have we turned our way of youth, Bent our steps toward thy broad portals, Seeking character and truth.

Koot steps, turning, twisting, minding, Tell a story of their own, How earh one his path is finding; Each must choose that path alone.

Then when high school days are over And the halls are still again. Each must turn his footsteps bravely Out into the world of wen.

Ettle verses by the Editor

In Our Teachers

Mho lead us, guide and inspire us, and whose constant, friendly helpfulness has made high school life a jsy, we, the Senior Class, dedicate this, the 1924 Reflector.

Mr. Young

Cordial in manner, sensible in his plans, efficient in administration, impactial in judgment, sincretly interested in the progress and well-being of all his pupils: these are some of the good qualities of our principal; qualities which give us confidence in him and make us glad to follow his lead.

Mr. Miller

A friend whom we are always glad to welcome is our gental superintendent with his pleasant smile for all. Beady to investigate what is new, but wise enough not to abandon what has proved its permanent worth, he is constantly and sincerely working for the development and best interests of our school.

Our Board of Education is composed of one member from each ward, elected for a term of three years, by voters of the entire city. Mayor E. W. Murcen is president, and the city clerk, Ben J. Huff, Jr., is clerk of the Board of Education, according to the charter.

The manner of election, the membership, and the term of office, differ from that in any other city in the state, because the schools are regulated by a special charter which was granted by the legislature on February 18, 1859.

The members of the Board of Education are always interested in the high school, and have proved that they are ready to help in school problems as much as possible.

Album

Faculty

The first thing we find in the treasure chest Is an album, worn with age,
And we see those whom we loved best
As we turn each time-dimmed page.
The teachers we had in our school days
Look out from that old book
And greet us just as in days gone by
With a kind and cheerful look.

The caretakers of our high school are the "life guards" of its students.

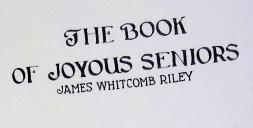

They come to the rescue when our locker keys are lost; they watch protectingly over our teachers' classroom keys; they keep a watchful, though friendly, eye upon our conduct in the halls; they perform daily little helpful acts for us; they contribute largely to the success of our school by the high standard of their work.

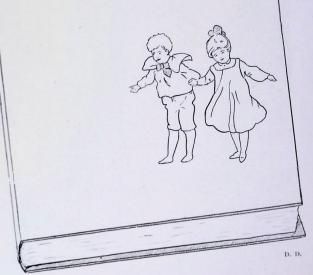

And they have endeared themselves to students and faculty alike by that great human quality of tolerance and patience.

And a lear to my eye,
Thinking of days gone by.

I remember our farm With its meadows so fair, The fun and the picules We children had there. I wonder and wonder Where the moments can fly, Thinking of days gone by

I see the old schoolhouse Again in my dreams, And my playmates come back; How real it all scens. My fancy brings gladness, Yet I cannol but sigh Thinking of days gone by

When I know that the gates Of Heaven are opened, And I hear the summons That will call me Home, How blessed and peaceful 'Twill be for me, to die Thinking of days gone by. "OUR OLD WELL"

(My first attenue at year librar) To the music grand That came from Our old well. I sal and listened And was charmed. I heard a thousand Thry, tinkling, Ringing bells, That were echoed Back to me. I heard laughter Juyous, happy, And carefree. And cared not Whence it came I board the Merry tripping Of dancing feel On the waters Down below. Was it a Water nymph? Perhans a Triton hold. I heard a Soft, low melody,-The sweetest Ever mortal knew. Perchance it were A lover's song. Sung long ago Near this same spot. And now Is sung for me Alone.

DAME NATURES STOVE

Eve walked in many a meadow When the grass with dew was wet, But Eve never seen a robin Pulling at a cigarette

Eve fished in many a river
When the sucker crop was ripe,
But Eve never seen a cat-fish
Smoking on a corn cob pipe.

If Dame Nature had intended When she first invented Man, That he'd smoke, she'd have built him On a widely different plan.

He'd have had a stovepipe And a damper and a grate And just really everything That was strictly up-to-date.—Dorothy Roc, '21,

Should freshman days e'er be forgot And never brought to mind— The year we studied all the time, And thought we had to grind? (most of us did, log)!

We thought the seniors dignified,
We thought the juniors grand,
And shi to be a suphamore
Each freshman dreamed and planned,
(anything to get past the "green" stage)!

And should the days of sophomores
Flee from our memories—
The time we thought we knew a lot.
And liked to bluff and tease?
(rather crude bluffing at that)!

The junior year rolled quickly by
With fun and study, too—
Of course each knew his place by then,
And what he ought to do.
(and some he ought not to)!

Our senior year—the best of all— The year of honors fine, When we helped make our G. H. S. Rank high in every line, Shall we forget the days we spent— Forget the friends we knew? Oh glad school days, we'll ne'er forget; We'll hold your memory true.

In Galesburg Bigh Schunt

Here's to Galesburg High School Where I've spent four happy years. And my bashfulness all vanished And I lost all social fears. I am sorry now to leave you And to enter on life's way. But I'll gain from high school memories A happy thought for every day. Dear old High School, how I love you! How I wish that I could stay And be here through coming years Instead of leaving you to-day. These four years have passed by quickly And it's time for us to part. But your sweet and pleasant memories I'll keep forever in my heart, So now I'll say good-by to you But it almost brings the tears To think that now has come the end Of my four dear high school years.

The Hinlin

- Lam the violin. From oil the finger tips of human hands—from out the depths of human hearts—from the uttermost recesses of human minds—Lam horn.
- The joy of Spring and Youth falls from my tongue. I sing of the sweetness of Summer and of Romance. The glory of Autumn and of the harvest time of Life rustle o'er my strings, and from out my heart I whisper of Winter and of Age.
- I lift from out the mire the souls of men gone down, and bring the smile of hope through tears of grief and hate. The lift of the love song; the grandeur of the wedding row; the laughter of the dance; the simplicity, the wonder and the worship of God; the immensity and the mystery of Death, are in

The Pipe Organ

- I am the pipe organ, inspired by God and created by man. My heart is the harmonious soul-utterances of the Master.
- I voice the tales of nymphs and sprites in dreaming whisperings and awesome doings of the little people of the forest.
- I tell of soft summer twilight moods, half sad, half tender, full of vague hopes never destined to be realized.
- I express life's sunset hour colored by the pathetic glories of a dying day.
- I utter the depressing yet tranquilizing shadows of the coming night.
- I live. I unfold the lives of the Master.
- Flute-like tones pour forth from my soul, expressing the emotions of the human heart.
- I breathe forth joy, light ripples of laughter, quick drawn breaths of delight, sunny circuits of bright and blithe fancies and the delicate freshness of first youth.
- At times my voice is heard in mournful melodies, solemn meditation and great crushing sorrow uplifting souls of men to spiritual thoughts. I am eternal, an indefinable something bringing "peace which passeth understanding" like a benediction from God.
- I am the pipe organ.

Adventure

Were I to travel, I should go
To journey over desert sands.
To seek strange jungles, far of lands.
To places that no others know.
I'd go by bypaths, not by read.
Exploring mountain, forest, hill:
I'd wander o'er the earth until
I'd find each bird's and beast's abode.
And when my trav ling days are o'er.
My paths explored, the signal given.
That I should find my way to God.
I'll ask to take one journey more,
And try to find a way to heaven.
O'er some bypath that is untrad.

Trees

Trees are like dreams; they bring to mind Memories of nests and birds and song. Green leaves of summer, the tender kiss Of gentle breeze that wafts along. Pleasures of springtime, of summer, of fall, The chirp of the robin, the whip-poor-will's call, All in our thoughts about trees we find. Trees are like ghosts; in winter they stand Reaching their arms to the dark lonely sky, Making strange signs to the stars up above, Moaning as winter's chill wind whistles by, Gowned in their mantles of snowy white. Standing as sentinels of the dark night For some long forgotten spectre band. Yet trees are not dreams; in summer they give Cool sites where the hirds may build their nests. While over the roadsides their shadows they east, And the weary traveler sits down and rests,

Thanking the owner, who ever he be,
For the refreshing hour in the shade of his tree
With a heart full of joy superlative.
And trees are not ghosts; their great trunks so tall
Felled by the ax, sawed, built by plan.
No house built of stone, so cheerless and cold.
Compares with the home so built by man,
And the hearth fire hurning so merrily
Acclaims the tree's reality.
Oh trees! You are not ghosts at all.

The Garden

Once upon a time there was a big, beautiful garden, fenced in by marble walls and campied by the interlacing branches of an aspiration grove. In this garden were four big beds, one in each corner, separated by white gravel paths. Just before the arched gate in the wall lay the senior plot, full of shirdly young trees almost ready to be transplanted into the wide world outside the gate, to grow and reach their branches toward the skies. Next to them was a section full of brilliant flowers and ambitious bushes with glossy leaves. The bright butterflies loved this corner of the garden, and there was much gay nonsense whispered about to lighten the serious task of growing. For the gardeners of the faculty were soon to transplant than to be plet mearest the gate. They must develop into fine specimens, so as to set a high standard for the rest of the garden.

Back in the corner behind the juniors was a wide terrace. In its midst was the Fernitain of Knowledge, cut from natural marble, by centuries of toil and adventure. The crystal nector bubbled up from the spring under the stone and flowed away in that expecting brooklets. Here the gardeners dipped forth the waters of Algebra.

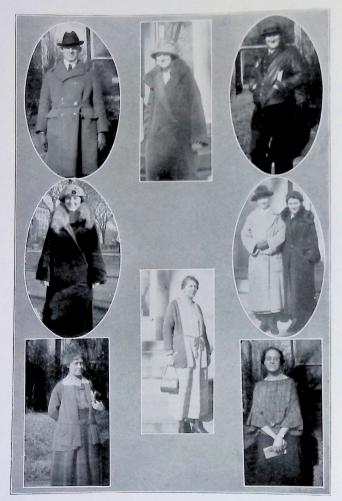

Clustering about the fountain, drinking joyously and stretching—stretching—stretching, were a great many ambitious sophomores. They had found the source of knowledge right at hand, and had kept hold of it by constant use. (More of the sophomores attained Honor Roll heights during the year than the members of any other variety). Some of the terrace dwellers reached away toward the senior division, and were just a little bit discontented, until a friendly little Breeze who knew much about the outside world whispered to them that being a sophomore was just as interesting as being an upper-classman, and told them to keep on drinking from the spring, and some day—but that was a secret. Sophomores wondered about it themselves constinues

One of the dancing little brooklets dripped down off the terrace to the grassy, quiet little freshman corner. Here it meandered back and forth, moistening the curious little roots of the juicy little sprouts set out in orderly array. They thrived gloriously. By the end of the year they were so crowded and so tall that they were able to crawl up the sophomore terrace and peep over to see what was there.

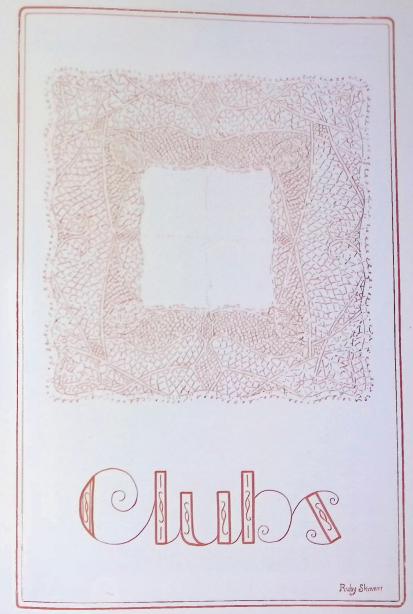

And so the big, beautiful garden dreamed on, happy in the realization that within its sheltering walls content and usefulness and happiness were growing for all time to come.

The Island of E. C. S.

In a distant corner of the world, there lies a large and important ocean, called Galesburg. This ocean is thickly dotted with islands, some large and some small, but each carrying on a trade all of its own.

One of the largest of these islands is inhabited by a tribe called the Elizabethars. This tribe has adopted modern methods of government and so elects its chiefting and his charcellors. This year the chieftains have been Blanche Halper, Elizabeth Sinclair, Marjoric Shoemaker, the chancellors, Elizabeth Sinclair, Marjoric Shoemaker, Jean Barry; the scribes, Elizabeth Mayes, Maurine Smith, Doris Huzett, the keypers of the treasury, Alice Griffith, Rebecca Felt and Rachel Olson.

That you may become fully acquainted with this island tribe, it is necessary that you know comething of their life. The year of the Elizabethans, unlike our own, begins in the fail. The first important event of the past year was to give to all necessary full rights of citizenship on the island. The day was declared a holiday and there was much serry making.

It has been the custom of the Elizabethaus, after the harvest has been taken in, and the wheat cut, to have a party. This year it was a masked hall held in the big ballroom of the palace.

Weekly there was a mass meeting of all the people to decide the long and weighty problems of the island. At one of these meetings the people gave a ten for all the mothers.

The most important feature of the year was a great tournament held with two other islands, inhabited by the Analotos and the Lincolus. The Elizabethaus, famed for their warriors, have always caused the two opposing countries a great struggle and it is seidem that they are defeated.

Soon after the tournament another party was given, this time unmasked. At this ball many beautiful gowns were displayed and a good time was enjoyed by all,

The last big event of the year was a feast given in honor of the citizens who were soon to set sail on the large ship called Life. After this banquet, the final farewells were said and this group of citizens sailed sadly out to sea.

Thus, as you see, another eventful and prosperous year has just been completed by the tribe of the Elizabethans.

May they ever have as great prosperity.

The Boys' Science Club opened the year with an excellent succession of programs. In accordance with the new ruling, the club held its meetings every Thursday during the accordance with period.

As has been the custom in past years, the programs consisted of two scientific likes and current events in the scientific world. The members took such an interest in their work that the programs were well given and easily understood. The club has passed many new rules in the course of the year. To make sure that all talks to be given on the program were of the right subject, the topics were given to the adverted to the program were of the right subject, the topics were given to the adverted to the program were of the right subject, the topics were given to the adverted to the course of the club. Heretofore a grade of B was necessary, but as science subjects are difficult, it was voted that the standard between the course of the club to the course of the club.

One of the first things the Science Club did this year was to elect a captain and organize a football team. The team was organized early in the fall and practised regularly. After having been beaten in previous years, the team resolved that it was time for the worm to turn and to give the old rivals. The Lincoln Debating Club, a fight. The game was scheduled for November 12. Our star men. Bruner at full and Michelson at quarter, taught the Lincolns that they should have stuck to debating, by running up a score of 25-0.

The tryonts for the Triangular Debates were held. They resulted in the following teams: for the negative: H. Bolkin, Leader; King and Nelson. For the affirmative: R. Egan, Leader; J. Bruner and J. Michelson. We look forward to some excellent debates.

An especially delightful social activity entered into by the club was a fancy dress party, which was held on Saturday, November 24, in the recreation rooms. This dance was a success, and many interesting and beautiful costumes were worn. Prizes were offered to the box and girl who had the best costume.

May many years follow such a one as this, for the Boys' Science Club.

Let us recall some of the things that have taken place in the Lincoln Debating Club during the past year,

As has always been the custom of the Analotos, the Elizabethans and the Lincolns, the annual triangular debate was held. The Annies were victorious this year. Nevertheless, the Lincolns are bound to have revenge next year.

When the call was given for Big Eight debaters, the Lincolns furnished two members of the team, Huadley Roberts and Lester Smiley.

A Lincoln, Hundley Roberts, represented Galesburg this year in the Declamatory contest. He also won first place in the Extemporaneous Speaking contest at Davenport.

The Lincolns put on the assembly preceding the basketball tournament again this year with as much of a success as ever.

The club was also represented on the basketball and football teams.

The contests in football and basketball between the "Bug Hunters" and the "Wind Jammers," were held as ususal this year. The football game was a victory for the "Bug Hunters," while the basketball game was won by the "Wind Jammers,"

The club's usual program is in the form of a debate, parliamentry law drills, or a talk by some outside speaker. This year the club has had the privilege of hearing Mr. Lewis of the Y. M. C. A., the Reverend Charles Durden, Mr. Young, Coach Gilbespie and Robert Sutherland of Knox.

Although the clubs have been limited this year in social functions, the Lincolns gave a full party that was the talk of the social year. They had a repeated success in their spring party.

The Lincolns were unfortunate in losing their adviser, Mr. Crawford, who had worked with them for several years. On the other hand they were fortunate in securing Mr. Lemmer for adviser. He is a man of ability who understands debating work.

Better than gold is the thinking mind.
That in the realm of books can find
A treasure surpassing Australian ore,
And live with the great and good of yore;
The sages lore and the poets' lay.
The glories of empires passed away;
The world's great drama will thus unfold
And yield a pleasure better than gold."

Alexander Smart.

The Mary Getteny History Club was one year old in January of this year. Our beloved mother, Miss Gumbiner, was forced to leave her forlorn flock in June, 1923, Miss Renicl in sympathy adopted the orphans.

A breakfast was held as a peace offering to our sister club, the Tri Mu, from whom we obtained our present adviser. Miss Renich. The Tri Mu responded by royally entertaining the History Club at a Hallowe'en party.

One of the happiest events of the year was a dinner enjoyed by the club as guests of Mrs. Waldron and the girls of the McKnight Industrial Home.

Possibly the greatest event of the year was the Christmas dinner party, held in the recreation rooms, the evening of December fourteenth. Music, talks by Professors Erickson and Newcombe, and the fashion play made the value of a History Club very apparent.

Since the purpose of the club has been to arouse interest in history, of course the programs have been of a historical nature. A Swedish afternoon, an hour with Priscilla and John Alden, a little time spent in hearing the master player, Beethoven, and an insight into the early life of Edward Bok have made the meetings very beneficial. At one of our meetings, Rev. Jenney brought a delightful Thanksgiving message. As guests of the Franklin Club, we enjoyed Professor Newcombe's talk on "Choosing a Vocation."

And now we ask our readers and friends, with us "turn to the pages of history and from what is there recorded—gather inspiration for the present and hope for the future."

Chendore Rousevelt Club

The members of an English class, at the beginning of their sophomore year, decided that they would like to be explorers, hinters if you please, after great things.

How in accomplish this was the first question. They brought the matter before Miss Land. With her approval, they were not long in voting in favor of a club. At the first meeting the following officers were elected: President, Hallie Oswalt; Vice President, Frances Lindstrum; Secretary, Edgar Clay, who never bored the club by reading the minutes; and Treasurer, Lenora Holzer. A committee consisting of Grace Newberg chairman; Edward Callendar and Hortense Young was appointed to draw up a constitution.

The next capedition made by these explorers was to find a suitable name. The name. Therefore Recovered," was selected for various reasons; first, because he was an ideal patriot and stateman; second, because of his love for outdoor sports; third, because he was a writer of autdoor books; and fourth, because he was a noted hunter and explorer.

As June approached, the young hunters, thus banded together under the name of Taxodore Remerch Club, thought that the jully times they had had together and the friendships they had formed should not be ended by the close of the school year. So a petition was made and signed by the majority of the club members, that the T. R. C. might be changed from a class club to a permanent one, and so the young bunters had brought in their second big game, for the request was granted and the small group was changed from a minor club to a regular high school club.

The second group of officers consisted of: President, Herbert Hart; Vice-President, Margaret Lagergren; secretary, Frances Lindstrum; treasurer, Dorothy Sandberg; and sergeant at arms. Helen Seely.

The young hunters, weary of the regular routine of hunting for literary achievements, decided to hold a rendezvous, so they all gathered in the auditorium for their first party. At this party a playlet was given, together with some original stunts,

Several wiener roasts were held. One, which was held in Lincoln Park, was a very delightful affair. A wiener roast was also held at Highland Park and would have been disastrous if it has not been for our gallant president, who safely guided the members over the dark, treacherous paths hordering the lake.

The second party was held in the recreation rooms on November 17. Old fashioned dancing and games furnished the diversion of the evening. This was probably the most delightful affair which has been held in the history of the club.

A skating party was on the calendar for January, and also basketball games between a boys' team and a girls' team.

Although the T. R. C. is yet in the early stages of development, it is a democratic organization and seems to have before it a hopeful future.

At the beginning of school the Progressive-Ville Restaurant was reopened with most of the old force on hand, with the exception of those who left to seek higher positions. New propertors took charge and under their excellent management the busitage progressed until at the present, the restaurant boasts of twenty-five steady cuslowers.

Since many of the old customers had left town, the force realized that something had to be done to increase the trade, so a free lumehean was held, to which three classes of prospective customers were invited. As a result of this meeting, elected new customers patronized the restaurant every Thursday afternoon.

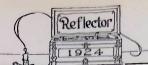

Later on to show appreciation of the increased trade, the customers were entertained at a Christmas feast, which was given in the banquet hall of the restaurant. The entire force and many of the customers with their friends were there.

Everyone had a joby good time, for Santa was there and gave each person two gifts.

The next event which was eclebrated was a real St. Patrick party. There were all kinds of essures, from a Valentino to a Wesley Barry. Dancing and games were enjoyed, and to live up to its name, eats were again served.

At the end of the year the old members of the force felt that they could no longer earry an the business because signs of old age were beginning to show upon their youthful faces, so they presented the new force with a luge box which contained a variety of things. In order that you may know something about them, the contents are listed below.

We have held our meetings the past year in room 105, uring the seventh period on Thursday afternoom. Our programs have been very interesting, magazine articles, current verils and extemporaneous talks on commercial subjects. We have have recent in any article support the very other week. A number of meetings throughout the year have included pienic lunches, held in the recreation room, and also at Lincoln Park, and they were thoroughly enjayed.

Our parties have kept up the spirit of the club, and at the beginning of the year, all of us became "Kids" for an evening which was spent in playing games, and amusing carecives so children do.

The date party of the first semester was held in the girls' gymnasium. December 16. The members and their friends entered the gym through an archway of silver and blue. Frenchy's orchestra had its place in the center of the floor. Wieker furtiure and floor lamps gave a very pretty effect, and much praise was bestowed upon our club for its luge success in decorating the gym.

On May 16, the club had a big party in the girls' gym; this was the second date party of the year, and everyone present had a very delightful time.

A pot luck supper was enjoyed by the club February 1; Dorothy Castle, as toastmaster, introduced Mr. Cox of Brown's Business College, and Mr. Braun, who spoke on commercial subjects. After a delicious supper, the club went in a hody to the Galesburg-Canton game.

A Commercial Club assembly was presented by some of our members the latter part of March, and their splendid work certainly reflected their spirit toward the club.

Our adviser, Mr. L. E. Greiner, has done a great deal for the Commercial Club this year, and a review of our year's work would be incomplete without an expression of our appreciation to him.

The B. T. Club

Although it was said last year that in 1923-1924 the B. T. Club would be larger and better, it is doubtful whether that can be said about it.

The club had a very good beginning this year, with sixteen members. But because of club conflicts when a rule was enforced that no pupil should belong to more than one club, the membership dwindled down to eight girls.

When Edna Tinkham, the president, left the club for another, Olga Larson, vice-president, was appointed president for the remainder of the term.

In spite of such a small membership, the club has done very well in carrying out its aims. The programs have consisted of debates and discussions on educational questions and teaching problems. At some meetings books on teaching have been read. The girls have also witnessed a number of demonstration lessons given by the classes of Ayres primary school, under the supervision of Miss Taylor.

The girls have not altogether forgotten the social side of the club. One Monday evening in October, the club hiked out to the Gale farm, where they were very royally entertained by the club adviser, Mrs. Gale. At another time, the girls lead a pot-lined dimer in the recreation rooms of the high school during the noon hour. Each girl brought some other girl who was a high school student and not a member of any club.

At Christmas time the girls helped the "Empty Stocking Club," by providing a joyful Christmas for a needy little girl.

The J. U. S. Garden

One day as a traveler was journeying through the rich and bounteous plains of Galesburg High School, a beautiful garden attracted his attention. Attracted by the fragrance of the blossoms, be energed, and was approached by two gracious ladies dressed as gardeners. Answering his inquiry, they said that he stood in the T. L. S. garden, famous in the plains for its blossoms.

The traveler, attended by the gardeners, walked through the orderly array of flowers, and as to did so be noticed the variety of blossoms. There was the rose, stately and aristocratic; the lily of the valley; the violet, modest and reteing; and the assurtime, jolly, chammy and peppy. The proud gardeners explained the method of cultivation in this way; the flowers are planted in the rich soil of scholarship, and then the sunshine of pep and the showers of high ideals make them thrive and grow until they shed their fragrant personality over the entire plain. Occasionally a desirable plant is found out on the plain and it is transplanted to the T. L. S. garden with much ceremony.

Even gardens must have their diversion, so these flowers have had their recreations as well as their duties.

An ideal garden in an ideal spot. Under such conditions the T. L. S. blossoms will continue to flourish in future years as they have in the past.

"Hello, is this the kingdom of the Tri Mu land?"

"Yes, this is the exalted ruler of Tri Mu speaking."

This is the custodian of Club Land. Will you tell me what your dominion has done during the test year? I wish to put it in the record of minutes. First I desire to hear what you have done during your sessions."

"I am indeed pleased to tell what we have done. A session was held each week in our most magnificent palace. For the entertainment of the nobility who were chosen from the realm of G. H. S., regular programs were prepared, consisting of debates, readings, extemporaneous and formal talks and Round Robin letters. The one subject which prevailed in all the programs was the study of commercial geography. We chose this for the purpose of becoming better acquainted with our own and neighboring realms."

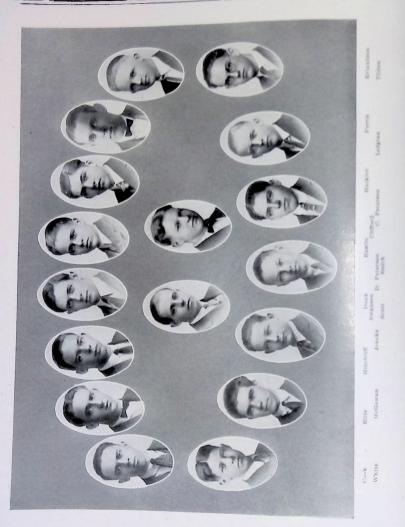

"What else did your people do besides work? I must have that for the record also,"

"First of all, we invited some of our friends in club land to a Hallow'en party held at one of the palaces of our nobles. Guests were asked to dress in keeping with the spirit of Hallowe'en. Entertainments and feasts were plentiful."

"Several weeks after this, all the nobles of Tri Mu land were invited to the palace of Good Times. Each noble brought a gift from the best of his kingdom and exchanged with his fellow nobles. After a gorgeous feast had been eaten, the guests hurried home to escape the Spirits of Night who were waiting for them."

"Thank you very much for your assistance; I am sure that the King of Club Land will wish you proseprity in the coming year. I must hurry on to the other parts of Club Land. Good-bye,"

A new club, for the purpose of developing and promoting better citizenship, has taken its place among the organizations of Galesburg High School. This club is called the Franklin Club, named after the great American statesman and diplomat. Benjamin Franklin.

The club was organized during the first semester under the leadership of Mr. Robannon and has since progressed to its present membership.

Since the club was organized, its programs have consisted of debates, talks, and discussions on current topics. As debaating is the hest method of presenting present day civic and international problems, the majority of the programs consist largely of debates.

Soon after the club had been organized, it was challenged to enter the Triple Debate with the two Science Clubs. The challenge was accepted, and the following team was chosen to represent the club on the question, "Resolved: That the United States should join the other nations of the world in a world court, for the settlement of international difficulties."

This club was formed in order to foster a desire to make useful collections of every nature, and to render mutual aid in the classification and study of these collections.

The organization is unique in the fact that pupils may either be invited to join or may apply for membership.

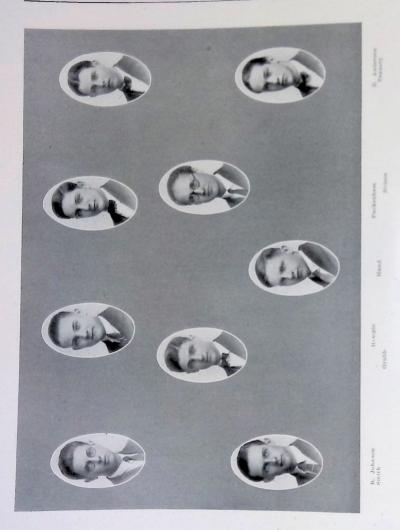

During the first year the members have profited greatly by the study of stamps and coins, the collection of which most of the members are interested in.

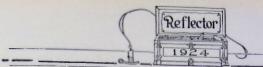

In each of the regular meetings there have been interesting talks by some of the members.

The first party of the club was given Saturday, March 29, with great success. At the party the club played Bunco, danced, listened to radio concerts and had refreshments.

Altogether this club has been quite a success for its first year, and we hope that the future members will help in trying to make it one of the largest and best clubs in G. H. S.

The year 1923-1931 has been a most successful year.

Not only has the local club become in numbers the largest Hi-Y club in the state, but also because of its activities and the building up of its impressive induction ceremony it has attracted national attention.

The fact that twice during the achool year the limit of membership has had to be raised because of the large number of applicants gives evidence of the strength of this organization. in its purpose is create, contain and extend high standards of Christian character in the

The fundamental purpose of the club has been maintained and its influence in bringing about a finer high school life has been wide spread.

One of the outstanding events of the school year was the entertainment of the state Hi-Y presidents, gathered in Goleanory for the tenth annual Older Boys' Conference. The supper and induction ceremony were never-to-be-forgotten events.

The club had the pleasure at this time of inducting into its membership two men who have made a notable contribution to the Hi-Y movement: Boyd I. Walker, state Boys' Work secretary of the Y. M. C. A., and H. W. Snouse, Chairman of the Boys' Work Committee of the local Association.

lagsiries are being received from high schools throughout the county, concerning the 11. Y assert and the extension of the influence of the club into Knox county is assured.

The Girls' Gi-1)

Girls Hi-Yi How many times have you seen that heading in the Budget? Numerous times of course because in identity levery issue of the Budget an account of some interesting Hi-V meeting is given. The officers Marion Poor, Blanche Halper, Fern Steinfeldt and Judith Shafer—have all helped by carrying on the main purpose of the organization.

Have you ever been to a "Get Acquainted meeting?" If not, it is almost impossible to realize what fun you've missed. Near the first of the school year, the Girls' Hi-Y held one, and new acquaintances were rapidly made. It was this meeting which helped create that splendid democratic spirit which flourishes so in the Hi-Y organizations. The spirit was one of the purposes of the club, and the organizers last year hoped it would be manifest in the club. And it has been,

Several difficulties presented themselves in regard to the times of holding meetings. The first plan tried, that of holding supper with the meetings, proved successful for a short time, but soon a change was needed. Then the meetings were held at four-thirty, with refreshments served. But the girls felt that having the meal served before the business meeting had proved a way for all to become acquainted. The new idea was established that the meetings be held at noon, with lunch served. This plan has proved successful.

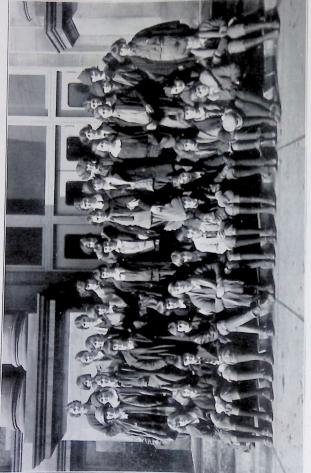

One of the main causes for the interest shown in the girls' Hi-Y, has been the splendid speakers at the weekly meetings, speakers representing all professions have talked to the giris, all proving helpful. Mr. Lewis especially has been a friend; in his frequent speeches he has shown the girls just what they—as Hi-Y girls—are expected to be and do. Other speakers such as the Rev. Freeman Jenny, the Rev. Pliny Allen, Miss Lind and Pearl Steinfeldt, organizer and first president of the club, have helped to make the meetings enjoyable

Part of the spirit, pep, and interest in the Girls' Hi-Y is the able leadership given by Mrs. Gale, adviser. Many of the speakers have been procured through her aid.

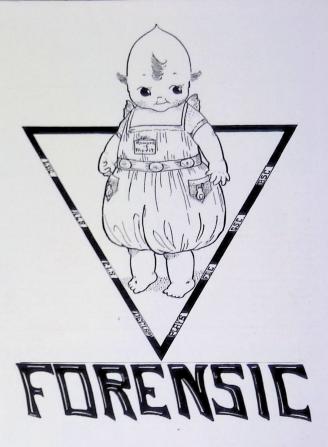

In January the Junior members held a meeting, and elected the following officers: President, Elizabeth Mayes; Vice-President, Lottic Durre; Secretary, Audrey Anderson; Treasurer, Violet Field.

Big Eight Debate

The outcome of the Big Eight delate this year was decidedly agreeable to those who make it their business to predict victory or defect for G. H. S. teams. With Blanche Halper, Marjorke Shoemaker, affirmative, and Hundley Roberts, negative, all having had Big Eight experience, there remained three vacancies to fill. Jean Barry and Lester Smiley, affirmative, and Dorothy Tilden, negative, more than filled these vacancies, and made up the necessary "push" to carry both teams to victory. The affirmative won from the Canton negative 2-1, while the negative won from the Monnouth affirmative 3-0, and from the Dovemport affirmative 3-0, thus making Galesburg High the winner of the entire big Eight Debate.

Marjorie Shoemaker, the affirmative leader, proved again that "practice makes purfect."

Blanche Halper, leader of the negative team, carried off honors in her usual brilliant way.

The other seniors on the team, Dorothy Tilden and Lester Smiley, showed remarkable abouty, and should be successful debaters in college. There were two juniors on the team this year.

Hundley Roberts and Jean Barry, who will be back to win again next year.

Credit should also be given to Elizabeth Sinclair and Alice Griffith, the alternates, who worked fultifully and well; and to Miss Mildred Fuller and Mr. Theodore Lemmer, who so successfully concled the tenus.

Declams and Extemp

Our representative in the Big 8 Girls' Declam this year was Blanche Halper. The entire student body felt that in sending Blanche to Canton our chances of vietory were good. With this knowledge that we were all back of her, Blanche did excellent work.

She was second place from an unusually strong field of competitors, Rock Island taking first, and Genesco, third.

Hundley was also the representative of G. H. S. in the Big Eight Extemporaneous Speaking contest, which was held in Davenport, April 18. Living up to his reputation as a speaker, he won first place, in one of the most difficult contests of which G. H. S.takes part. Davenport won second place while Genesco won third.

Miss Lucile Fenton, who so efficiently coached Hundley, deserves much credit for the splendid victory.

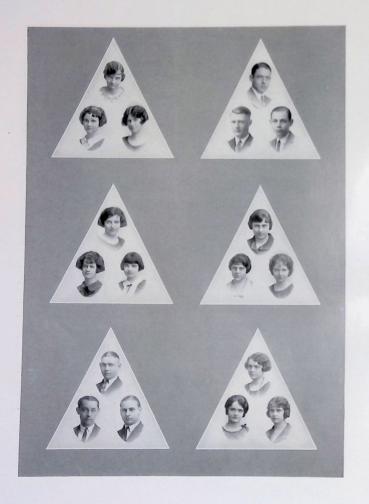

Hundley Roberts went to Kewance, December 14, to the Boys' Big 8 Declam Contest, and although he did not place, G. H. S. can be proud of its representative.

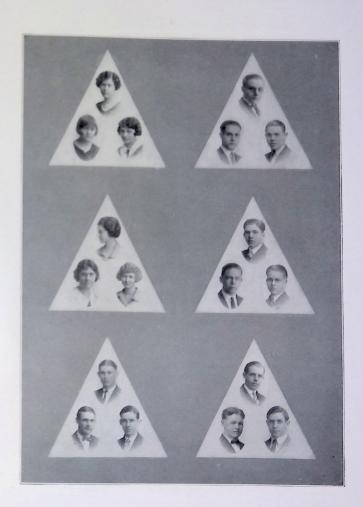

Geneseo won first place, Kewance second, and Moline third.

Hundley chose for his declamation, "The Spartan Mother." He entered well into the spirit of the story and spoke with a great deal of dignity and poise.

Let voices raise in joyful lays Our High School dear to praise. From the earth unto the sky Let the ringing echoes fly. Let beroes hold with pride uphold The silver and the gold: And all unite to win the fight for Galesburg.

Chorus

Dear old Galesburg High School!
Proudly may your colors float for ages
yet untold.
Dear old Galesburg High School!
Praise to the silver and the gold.
Dear old Galesburg High School!
Your stalwart sons will ever by you stand;
Your daughters fair will ever round you rally
And sound your praises o'er our land.

11

In after years when we with tears
Have known life's hopes and fears,
As children still of thee
Our pride and joy shall be,
To sing the song, both loud and strong,
An ever swelling throng,
Which we of yore sang o'er and o'er for Galesburg,

REUBEN ERICSON.

Come on now - - Everybody up!

TEAM?

Our Coaches

Conch Gillespie came to us this year from Abingdon, where he had been coaching the high school and Hedding College. Mr. Gillespie attended Lebanon University, at Lebanon, Ohio, after which be coached athletics at the Civic Trust High in Lebanon for three years. Following this, he coached for four years at St. Thomas High, in St. Thomas, Kentucky, then in Abingdon, where he made has debut in coaching circles in Illinois.

With very little material for a football team. Ceach Gillespic turned out a team to be proud of, losing only two games in the season. The basketball team won the district-champinship. The coach is working hard on the track team in the hope of finding material for the coming years. He is one who is wrapped up in his work and who is liked by all with whom he has been associated.

Coach Doty, our gynnasium instructor and assistant coach, received his training at Illinois State Normal. He taught gym work at different camps in the summer, at Culver Military Academy, Culver, Indiana, and Camp Tatapochon, Lexington, Illinois. He was engaged in this work three years.

Coach Doty turned out fine second teams in football and basketball, keeping up the interest of his men by scheduling many out-oftown games. He has also done much to keep the interest of the school at large devoted to athletics, by promoting inter-class and intranuural tournaments.

FORREST WATSON: Watson is our four year man. He showed his stuff playing at quarter for there years. Forry was always there with consistency and good judgment. G. H. S. will miss him.

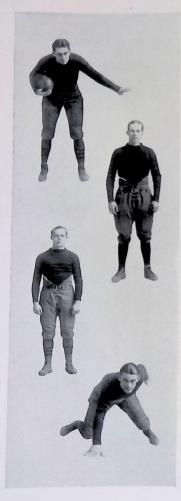

ALLAN PINEL "Plag" was another of Gillespie's prodigies, who copped an All-State herth. "Plag's" end-around plays were the feature of the game, completely outwitting the opponents and resulting in long galan. We lose "Plag." too.

HARRY SANDBEBGe When Harry started around the end there was no stopping him. He made the All-State eleven, and was proclaimed by critics one of the fastest men on a high school eleven in years.

RICHARD HURFF: At end or half, Hurff was "there with the goods," When things looked gloomy, Boom was always ready to cheer the fellows with some of his clever talk.

GEORGE O'DONNELL: "Mick" sure was a "side stopping feed." Just when the apponents through they had him, Mick was twisting, burning, and gone again. We regret being him this year.

JEAN LOTT: Rather small in stature, be made it up in speed and fight. He showed his dependability in the Genrseo game, where G. H. S. was pitted against a strong for.

FRANK DEETS: Frank came back to us this year. "Deetsy" was a valuable man, always having his man worried and in the hole. This is also Deets' last year.

JOE CONNORS: "Joey" came to us this year from Burlington, where he had two years' experience. He certainly knew the fine points of the game and always had his man.

CLARIS JORNSON: Although quiet around acheol, Claris was leard from on the gridien. "Down on the farm" he developed enough to be made into a first rate center for G. H. S.

IVAR WETTERBUIGS I see played the positions of tackle and center very well this year. We shall miss him next year, as he is a sensor.

CLIFFORD WILKINS: Wilkle proved himself to be a hard full full full-back, and carried by lead work on both offensive and defensive. Wilkle to only a freshman and has three more years 1996 the termity.

LESTER SMILEY: This was Smiley's first trial at the griding game. He developed into a real guard and played hard at all times. Les showed his real football ability at Moline.

10 h.

LDGAR NELSON "Bull Dog" held center position this year in almost perfeet form, making only a few faulty passes, a record to be proud of. When "Bull Dog" got mad, the opponents knew it. We lose him this year, too.

GORDON DAVIS: Red was a "great find" this year. He played a consis-tent game, and when holes were called for on Red's half of the field, the holes were there. This is Davis' first year, so we are expecting great things of him in the future.

THOMAS HAYES: Hayes played hard at end, up to a few weeks of the season finish, when he found his position as a tackle. Tommy played his real game at this position.

MAN PALMER: Although the lightest man on the team, he was one of the strest lackiers. When called upon to pilot the team from quarter, Max showed dependability and a fighting coich. spirit.

Co the Subs in Football .

The football subs were rather overshadowed by the shiring glory of the first team this year. However, they played a number of out of town games, winning most of them. They were ably coached by Athletic Director Doty. A great deal of praise is due the second string men for their perseverance this year, as they furnished the practice for the first team, and received nothing for their efforts, except training for future years.

A FLASH FROM THE FACULTY FRACAS

Your team and my team—
And how they fought today,
For your school and my school,
With plack in every play;
Shining Silver, glowing Gold,
Our colors all agleam
Rippled proudly, sending spirit.
O'er our lighting team;
Your squad and my squad—
And oh the pride o' you
And those roaring rocking hundreds.
When that good old line held true.

Your team and my team
And how much it does mean
To your school and my school
That the game is square and clean:
Your leart and my heart
Heat quicker as we hear
That sturdy "Held 'em, Galesburg"
That thooders tense and clear
Across the field—till echees
Give back, in pleading might.
That "Galesburg"—bracing, stiffening
The placky line helds tight.

Year team and my team—
With courage true and tried—
Our colors tell our fighting team
Our loyalty and pride.

122

Oh! Johnny, Oh! Johnny,
How you can play!
Oh! Johnny, Oh! Johnny,
If you'll just say
A word of cheer, a word of fight.
The team will play with all its might.

Oh! Johnny, Oh! Johnny, They have the pep. Oh! Johnny, Oh! Johnny, Just watch 'em step! As on to viet'ry you will go-Oh! Johnny, Oh! Johnny, OH!

BRUNER-CAPT.-Center

Bruner was fully deserving of the honor that was bestowed on him. Johnny led his team-mates out of tight places many times, and arged them on to victory. We'll miss John next year,

WATSON-Guard

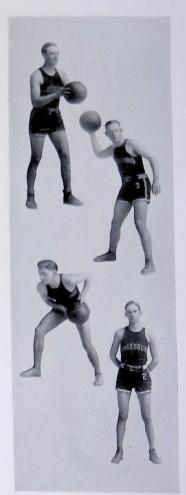

Watson always played a consistent game. He was in the way every time the bell was advanced to his corner, stopping the opponents' attack. He made a good running-mate to Johnson. We lose both of our guards this year.

HURFF-Forward

"Dick" could be relied on to put in that long thriller just when it was needed. Hurff had an eagle eye that was both dangerous and disastrous to all teams. We'll miss Dick, too,

MICHELSON-Guard

"Yankee" played a scrapping game from start to finish. He had the speed and pep which encouraged the team at all times. "Tanks" fighting berth will be hard to fill next year.

JOHNSON-Guard

Lanky Cully" was the Jisse to all the opposing forwards, because of his shilling to jump up and take the best light from the booket. Johnson stopped many of the cumies' attacks by his close guarding.

NEWBERG Forward

Newhers came back this year and was even better than before, "Kuff" knew basketball completely and also never falled to put in his famous "sleepers."

BRIGGS Forward

Paul was a great find this year; on being promoted to the first squad, he ran true to form. Long shots were Briggs specialty, and he was dangerous once he got past the center of the floor.

MEYER Forward

Rather small in stature for a basketball player, however, Bob was a wonder. He listed as sixth high point man of the District Tournament, an honor to be proud of when he is not a regular.

MONTEGOMERY—Guard
Another prize was listed when Arnott was picked out of the second string group. Although not in many games, Montgomery always played his best. He'll be enrolled as a regular next year.

UPSON—Guard
Upson started on the second bench until Coach picked him out as a winner, and sure enough he was. Upson played a steady game at his posttion and guarded his man well.

Baskethall Review

The Basketball team was very successful this year, winning all but one of the games on their regular schedule. They came out of the district tournament victorious, which entitled them to go to the sectional at Peoria. Here the team went fine until we met with Cauton for the third time in the season, and were beaten by one point. Following are the scores of the games:

In the Second Team

The second string basketball men deserve much credit this year. They were the ones who practiced with the first team every night. They were knocked about and tramped on, but nevertheless they showed their true spirit and took it all. They played many outside games, by arrangements made by Coach Doty, and won a good many of them. So here's to the second team; let's give them our full support for next year!

Next in the depths of the chest I see A fiddle, cracked and old; And I think of the thrill it gave to me When we sang the "Silver and Gold."

BURG HIGH SCHOOL BAND

Gigh School Band

The High school band! Who, in this school of ours, with the least spark of patriotic five, has failed to feel a thrill of pride when the first strains of its music audible on the football or basketball battlefields of victory? Certainly no organization could have covered itself with merited glory more successfully than has our high school band during the past year, under Mr. Landon's leadership. The boys did not elect officers, as was customary in the past, but worked faithfully toward their high goal with Mr. Landon as the "monarch" of their musical realm.

The record of the band's achievement this year is one of which any student may well be proud. Twice has it livened our assemblies; it played in the parades during Home coming week; the boys were always on hand to instill "fight" into the football and baskethall men, and to rouse the entinesiasm of the student body; they played for all the Lombard College games, and appeared in concert before the Rollary Club of Galesburg.

The band reached its zenith when it presented an excellent program in the Armory, Friday evening, March 21, and proved to the Galesburg public its ever-increasing musical ability. Galesburg's best known musicians sponsored the cause, Mrs. Harry Kimber, Mrs. George Higgins, the Foley sisters' quartette, DeWitt DePuc, and Mr. Murdock taking part in the program and helping to assure its success.

The Galesburg Chamber of Commerce also descrives much credit, for the idea of the band concert was originated by this organization, for the generous purpose of providing the band boys with new uniforms, and it was through their support, together with that of the Kiwanis, Rotary, Lious' and Women's Clubs of Galesburg, that $1,450 was cleared for the high school band.

The Reflector

In opening our Chest of Memories, we have tried to bring forth all the things which are dear to the friends of Galesburg High. We have tried to interest girls and boys alike, by recalling the athletic. scholastic and social phases of school life. The book is a success only if in later years it brings back vividly the friends and activities that made the time spent in G. H. S. the happiest four years of life.

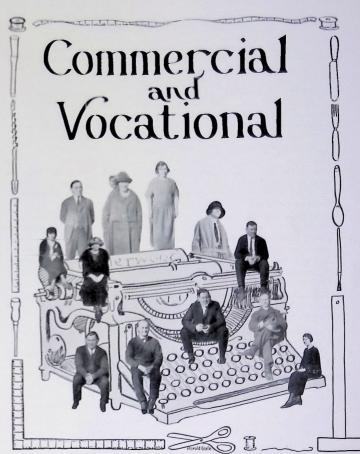

The staff has worked long and hard. Every worker has enjoyed his part in making the 1924 Reflector interesting. We take this opportunity of saying "thank you" to the people who have so cheerfully helped with the book: Ruth M. Johnson, William Churchill, Harold Gale, Audrey Anderson, Mary Churchill, Ruby Skinner and Clarence Byland.

And for you who have made possible the 1924 Reflector by your interest and support, we can only hope that in years to come the book will be a source of real pleasure.

In September four years ago, a Fairchild came to Pearce the Mayes and Webb and Hedges of the Forrest of King Education. De Long Heath stretching before them did not discourage the Poor students, and a White Ray of ambition Drew them steadily on. Not a Page in their books was too difficult for them, and so they (Me)-Grew. On the athletic Field they did not Potter; none declined to work and in all school activities, they were not Farar behind. The second year, they did not Crouch back from the hard Case at hand, but Nashed their teeth and Grubbed away Moore in a Gran(d) style. To be Frank, the sophomore year was a Royal one. Year three found Watson as the Turner of the class business, and with plenty of Halpers, Reputation Rose still higher, and the juniors Pined to take the silver Cupp before they finished. Now they Crosson to senior Castle, the True cliMax of their school careers. Brunertook the Helm(s) of the senior schooner and with a stirring Gale, is bringing it to port. I Wood tell a Lott Moore of this Smiley, good-natured, famous class, but the sun Waynes in the West! So farewell, class of '21! In coming years, may you always be as Jolly and as True.

My faithful Underscood I drew From out its dusty case; Each key unlocked the memory of some familiar face.

Commercial Department

The fundamental purpose of the Connected department is to train the students taking the courses in two lines of work. These two lines or occupations are stenography and bookeeping. However, the department also trains the students in subjects of a general elerical nature, such as filing, office practice, commercial law, and commerce and industry.

Many students who are graduates of the department have been placed in positions in Galesburg, and they are giving satisfactory service. It is suggested that these alumni notify the head of the department of their present addresses and also as to whether or not they desire a change, because requests are often received by the department for stenographers and bookkeepers who have had one or more years of experience.

Every day there is a greater demand for business training, and students are beginning to realize that they can obtain this education in the public schools as well as in private institutions. The students are also realizing the fact that in order to meet the standards of this work they must exert their best efforts.

The commercial department has grown rapidly in the last few years, keeping pace with the increased total curoliment in the school, and is even going beyond its usual percentage of the students. It is believed that students who were formerly altracted to the department by the idea that its courses were easy, are those who have been obliged to drop the work or else after their ideas and fall in line. No student should now enter the commercial course without planning to work, and work hard and earnestly.

Modern business is constantly making new opportunities for the trained elerical worker, and the training given in this department helps the high school graduate to find a place in the commercial field.

The commercial department is not advising all its pupils to consider stenography or bookkeeping as a permanent occupation, because such a method, if pursued by all the schools in the country, might result in an over-supply of people for these positions. But it is to be remembered that many business executives have begun as bookkeepers or stenographers and, after being graduated from these positions into places of greater responsibility, have made excellent use of their technical knowledge. Business training pays dividends, whether directly or indirectly.

If I had kept on working there
I might have gotten in a rut."

Come Economics Department

If you want to spend an enjoyable day, come with us while we visit the Home Economics department.

Perhaps the first department that we enter will be the Foods. We no sooner than we are politely informed that we must partake of a luncheon, in the dining room of the practice apartment, which the girls have prepared. While thus engaged we are told of some of the details of the department. We are told that the girls receive a great deal of practice in the planning, preparing, and serving of many and that they learn to do the marketing. The scientific principles of food are

The next department that we must visit is clothing. Here in one group we find the first sense to reindents, who are engaged in making simple garments, such as one piece was dresses. They are also, at a low cost, able to make next little gifts for Christmas, etc. Over here in another group we watch the advanced students, who are making over old garments, such as dresses for the kindergarten children and for other people if they wish them to. They also make dresses for themselves, and some of the seniors even make their graduation dresses. When Easter time comes the girls naturally like Easter bounets, having first worked out the pattern in the design department. An exhibit is held, showing the articles made and also demonstrating soutable dress for high school girls.

The next department that we visit is that of design, where we find the students engaged in the study of costume designing, applying all the art principles they have previously learned. This department co-up rates very closely with the clothing department in the study of line and color, in relation to dress and hats. The students in this department also begin work in house planning by studying the different types of houses and even planning a house, including the drawing of the floor plans.

The last department that we will inspect is that of Home care and Home management. Here we find the first semester students studying the different types of homes and planning a hone for an average family of five. They take up the business of that family and prepare budgets for every member. They also take many trips, sometimes going to houses under construction to study the various labor-saving devices. We will now go over and see the second semester students, who are studying home care. We are told that they study suitable diets for different ages, and mursing problems in the home and first aid.

Well, there's the school bell, so we shall have to go now, but we want to come back again sometime.

Art Department

The Art department is now entirely separated from the Home Economies department although it may co-operate with it.

The course in art endeavors to give the pupil an acquaintance with the fundamental principles of art; to cultivate the powers of observation, comparison and appreciation of heauty in line, form, and color; and to develop a technique of expression through different media; one might say, art appreciation gained through art participation.

The first year of the course consists of free hand drawing and lettering, which includes perspective, composition, still life, Notan lettering, block printing and figure work.

With this as a foundation, the advanced course involves the study of color, design, posters, and more work from nature.

Mechanical Drawing

The mechanical Drawing department was moved this year to the Central Building, where it now occupies two rooms. Here six semesters of work are offered.

During the first two semesters, the fundamentals of drawing and the correct use of the various instruments are taught. Advanced work consisting of detailed and assembled drawing and tracing is taken up in the third semester. The pupils in this semester are also taught to make drawings directly from the object. Architectural drawing is taken up in the fourth and fifth semesters. The various and best methods of construction are first studied before planning and designing. Each student, before completing the fourth semester, must take a complete set of drawings for a residence, including floor plans, elevation and details of the house. The sixth semester consists of original work in house design.

Printing Department

The printing department is a busy one, because the department not only prints the "Budget" every week, but also has to do numerous jobs for the schools throughout the city.

The department teaches the students taking the course the principles of printing. The same things that go to make up the printing of large newspapers can be found right here in this department.

"I'd like to be an artist And mess around with paint But I wouldn't be a cabist "Cause that kind of artists ain't,"

Manual Training

One of the most popular courses in the school, among the boys, is that of Manual Training. The reason is obvious because a boy naturally longs to work with his hands, and in this department he has a good opportunity to make valuable use of them.

After learning the principles of woodworking and different kinds of tools, as well as the different kinds of materials, in the first semester, the pupil is allowed to work with the electrical machines, including the lathe, during the second

At the end of the source the pupil can be justly proud of the beautiful pieces of work be has made, such as chairs, cedar chests, tables, electric lamps, bureaus, dressing tables, and other articles of furnitire.

Forging

Forging to the semester course. During the first part of the semester elementary phases of the work are taken up, such as covering, drawing out, forming, shaping and sing with the humae. In the latter part of the semester, the work is much more interesting, because the pupils are taught to temper different metals correctly, and to make some of the simple tools, such as clusels, hammers, and various other types of

Auto Mechanics

The course in Auto Mechanics affords students an opportunity to study the ration types of automobiles. The course consists of the mechanical and the economics operation of the automobile. The work also includes the general care and elements repair work on an automobile.

The course is an interesting one to the pupils, because every student expects, to the pupils, because every student expects, or the course of the course of

Agricultural Department

Five senseters of work are being given by the agricultural department, under the supervision of the State Vocational Board. This department is classed as one of the sciences.

In the first semester, formation, composition and the texture of soil are studied, with their relation to plant growth. In addition to the study of crops, pruning, spraying, drafting, and the general care of orchards are taught in the second semester. This course is taught objectively as the students care for an orchard near the school. The work in the third semester is devoted to animal husbandry, which consists of breeding, feeding, and judging of horses and cattle. The fourth semester continues the study of cattle. A fifth semester's work was added to the department this year. This added semester deals with dairy farming. All the principles of dairy farming are taught, including the equipment required to make such a farm successful and efficient

The agricultural department is busy and active the whole year through. This year has been one of unusual activity, as it evidenced by the large number of contests in which the department has competed.

The day after Commencement Day in 1923, a livestock judging contest was held at the Judy Farm at Tallula, Illinois. From the contestants, a team of three was chosen. The team chosen consisted entirely of Galesburg boys.

Stock Judging Team

On June 25, the state stock judging contest was held at Champaign. About one hundred teams, which included three hundred boys, participated in the contest. The Galesburg team consisting of George Case, Clarence Hallberg, and Claris Johnson took second place, while George Case took second place in the individual coatest.

The next contest was at the Interstate Fair held at Aurora. The Galesburg stock judging team, consisting of George Case, Forrest Fairchild and Clarence Hallberg, again took second place. This contest was doubly hard to lose in view of the fact that the winner was to me 18 Syranges. Next York, and to compete these. The winnerst Syranges was to go to Syracuse, New York, and to compete there. The winner at Syracuse was to be awarded a free trip and tour of Europe, with all expenses paid, and it so happened that no other team competed at Syracuse, except the winner at Aurora.

Soil Demonstration Cram

The Galesburg soil demonstration team, consisting of Arthur Olson, Orlan Swartz and John Sutor, also competed at Aurora. They succeded in taking first place.

Because of the victory at Aurora, the soil demonstration team competed at Sioux City last full. As a result of this contest, two of the bays were awarded a week's trip to Chicago during the National Live Stock Show held there. At Show City, Orlan Swartz was elected President of the Central District Agricultural Clubs for the following year. Senior Day is a day which every member of the class of '24 will always remember. The pictic, with its games, track meet and eats, the party, with its stants and glorious informality, all will have a place in the memories of every scalor.

The class of 24 wides to thank Mr. Young for his splendid idea. This senior day, the first ever held at Galesburg High, was a splendid success, and will go down in the history of G. H. S. as a day of joy, which Mr. Young first introduced.

The Operetta

One of the very successful features of the past year was the operetta, written by W. Rhys Herbert, which was given by the Girls' Glee Club, May twenty-ninth, in the high school study hall. It was under the direction of Miss Ruth Sager. The performance was a clever two act specifical portraying the life of a popular young society belle.

The leading characters are as follows:

Rose McCloud	Oral Day
Mary Forsythe	Margaret Crawley
Lady Grey
Debutantes:
Dora	Grace Sherwood
Flora	Katherine Herriot
Molly	Elizabeth Maye
Polly	Alflild Yelnigre
Bobby	Anna Mae Harton

New band uniforms were purchased this year. To raise money for these the high school band, assisted by several local artists, gave a concert on March 21, in the Armory. The Women's Club, the Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary, Lious' and Kiwanis Clubs were the sponsors of the event, and the success was due in a great measure to the belp and appreciation of the people of Galesburg.

Track

The track season was exceptionally good this year for the number of new recruits on the team. They attended the Lombard Interscholastic, Knox relays, Bradley Interscholastic Big Eight State meet at Urbana and the relays at Havana. In almost every meet, some of the team placed in events. They came out fourth at the Big Eight held at Moline.

The boys are to be congratulated on their showing. The team should show more speed next year as they will have had this year's experience to their credit. All the track team except four were underclassmen.

The Senior Plan

"The Guest of Honor" was the play chosen by the seniors this year. It was well chosen, too, for at every turn there was a laugh or a sigh, and every member of the east took his part excellently. The play was coached by Miss Fenton.

The east of characters was as follows:

Mr. John Weatherbee	John Brune
Jack Weatherhee	Charles Schel
Miss Rosamond Kent	Rachel Beatty
Mr. Warner	Lester Smile
Mrs. Murray	Blanche Halpe
Mr. Wartle	Max Palme
Mr. Kent	Fred Panker
Mrs. Kent
Thisby	Richard July
Helen Kent
Ione Curtis
Tom
French Student
Butler

Gay Music, shaded lights, and laughing echoes Snatches of conversation, voices raised in song Dresses of varied colors, like the prisms-Excitement, like an elf among the throng. Dark suits and happy thoughts Enjoyment of the best the right can give Dancing along a floor of glass A Memory as long as I shall live. The elders who adorn the walls And add a touch of just propriety, Serve only as a merry contrast To those who gaily dance and happily, One day I found this program for a High school party And a memory of that evening came to me The laughter, music and the voice Of girls and fellows that I used to see.
